BUSINESS STEADILY IMPROVES, REPORT BY GOVERNMENT AGENT SHOWS

Twelfth Federal District in Prosperous Condition, Is General Indication

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Increasing industrial activity, record Christmas sales and improved conditions in nearly all of the basic industries of the district were shown in the monthly report of John Perrin, federal reserve agent for the twelfth federal reserve district made public today.

"Industrial activity which has been steadily increasing during the past year, continued through December with less than seasonal diminution," says the report. "The volume of trade in the lumber industry was approximately 50 per cent greater in December 1922, than in December 1921."

"The mines of the district have temporarily at least, stabilized production, at levels much above those prevailing a year ago. The total value of the district's production of five principal metals (gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc) was $163,340,471 in 1922, compared with $101,638,967 in 1921."

"Exceeds Consumption"—Production of petroleum in California continues to exceed consumption and stored stocks were increased by 1,420,204 barrels during December, reaching the record figure of 61,334,928 barrels on January 1, 1923.

"Hiding permits issued during December 1922 were greater both in number and in value than in December 1921, but the percentage of increase was not so great as in previous months of 1922."

"The 1922 pack of canned fruits and vegetables has proved to be the largest ever produced in the district, exceeding the small 1921 pack by almost 75 per cent."

"Seasonal decreases in employment have been smaller this winter than in the past two years."

"Reporting department stores of the district transacted the largest volume of business in their history during the past Christmas season. Sales were 11.9 per cent greater than in December 1921, and 8.1 per cent greater than the previous record month of December 1920."

"Sales in all of the ten reporting lines of wholesale trade increased in December 1922, compared with December 1921, the increase varying from 3.5 per cent to 21.4 per cent and being over 15 per cent in seven of the ten."

"Final estimates of the United States department of agriculture show that the physical volume of agricultural production in this district in 1922 was approximately the same as in 1921, but that the aggregate value of the crops grown was 10 per cent greater in 1922 than in the previous year."

"Prices for livestock and livestock products have returned moderate profits to producers during the major portion of the year and the livestock industry is now in appreciably better condition than it was a year ago."

"The recovery is reflected in the present active demand for breeding animals to be used in rebuilding flocks and herds."

"Heavy rains and snows during recent weeks have benefited fall sown crops, stimulated the growth of feed for livestock and practically assured an adequate supply of water for irrigation purposes later in the year."

President Hopes for Early Debt Decision

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27.—President Harding is hopeful that the British cabinet will speedily approve the American proposition for funding of the $5,000,000,000 debt of Great Britain to the United States—a plan which is now being taken to London by Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, it was said, officially, at the White House.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES AWARD CONTRACTS FOR CONSTRUCTION OF NEW HIGH SCHOOL PLANT

Officials Agree to Spend $568,380 Out of the $600,000 Bond Issue; Work to Start at Once, Statement From Architects

THE NORTH PACIFIC CONSTRUCTION CO. of Los Angeles last night was awarded the general contract for the construction of the new plant for Glendale Union high school. The high school board of trustees last night contracted to spend $568,380 of the $600,000 bond issue and now has a balance of $31,620 with which to pay for unawarded contracts.

The bid of the North Pacific Construction company, which was the lowest submitted, was for $457,105. This was within a couple of thousand dollars of the architects' estimate.

Munger & Munger of 174 East Union street, Pasadena, were awarded the contract for the plumbing and also the contract for the heating and ventilating equipment. In the case of the plumbing contract, their bid was $29,766 and in the case of the heating contract, their bid was $36,746.

The Alhambra Wall Paper and Paint company was given the contract for the necessary painting. Their bid was $13,476.

The electrical contract was not awarded because of a desire to secure lower bids through a change in certain specifications. The fact was brought out, also, that no local electrical contractors had bid. Decision was reached to re-advertise this contract at once.

Altogether $537,093 was spent last night for contracts.

Architects John C. Austin, Frederick M. Ashley and George A. Lindsey were present at last night's session. According to their contract, Irving H. Oliver, business agent for the high school board, presented them with a voucher for $18,798.25 for their labor in preparing the plans and specifications. This is 3 1/2 per cent of the value of the contracts awarded. The balance of their fee of 2 1/2 per cent, amounting to $12,488.92, will be given them when the building has been accepted. They will receive 6 per cent of the value of the electrical and other contracts awarded under their specifications.

Contracts are now being prepared by the architects and will be ready for the signatures of the president and secretary of the high school board and the contractors Tuesday.

The North Pacific Construction company has just completed the new Citrus Union high school at Azusa. They hope to have the plant ready for occupancy by September.

Actual construction work, in the opinion of Mr. Austin, is likely to start next week. He gave the North Pacific Construction company unofficial notice that their bid had been accepted and was assured that all speed would be made in getting their equipment on the job.

Speaking on the negative at San Diego, Harold Majors and Miss Kathryn McNary suggest the payment of the debt through the sale of exports to South America. They declared that France would be able to pay this debt if she reduced the size of her military establishment.

Harold L. Brewster, who was coach of the debate, is well pleased with the result of the debate. He remarked this morning that local debaters have won all their debates so far this season.

BOOTLEGGERS BATTLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Seizure of $200,000 worth of whiskey and champagne and the arrest of seven men was followed today by a gun fight between bootleggers and Staten Island police in which thirty shots were fired.

Uncle John Says:

We're still gettin' word about the New Year's edition of The Glendale Evening News we sent to the folks back east. They all write and thank us for sendin' the paper, sayin' it give 'em a good idea of what a big city Glendale is. Mary says a newspaper can be a big help to a city and these copies of The News told our friends more than we could tell in a hundred letters. AERO CLUB OF SOUTHLAND WILL MOVE HEADQUARTERS FROM L. A. TO THIS CITY, DIRECTORS STATE

Official Publication, 'The Ace,' Will Also Locate In Glendale As Part of Great Municipal Aviation Project

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

THE board of directors of the Aero Club of Southern California, at a meeting held Thursday night in Los Angeles, decided to remove the headquarters of the organization from that city to Glendale, and a suite of offices has already been secured in the Monarch building on South Brand boulevard where the Aero Club will conduct its business in future, according to Garey W. Carr, editor of The Ace, who was in Glendale yesterday afternoon for the purpose of renting the quarters for the Aero Club, and also to secure offices where he may establish the editorial headquarters of his publication.

The establishment of permanent headquarters of the Aero Club in Glendale follows immediately on the decision of the members of the Commercial Aircraft Association of Southern California to erect factories on the Glendale aviation field and to make this the center of the aviation industry in the southern part of the state.

The Aero Club includes 500 members, among them being men who are connected with some of the biggest industrial undertakings in the entire country, and the opening of the club's offices here means that Glendale will automatically become the center of aviation activities and the manufacture of airplanes and airplane supplies in the west.

Will Meet In Glendale
The president of the Aero Club of Southern California is Otis Booth, a grandson of the late General Harrison Gray Otis, and a man who served his country in the aviation department during the world war, and included in the club's membership are practical flyers and men actively engaged in the manufacture of airplanes.

Members of the Aero Club's directors will be held regularly in Glendale, according to Mr. Carr, who will act as the special representative of the club for the present. Mr. Carr will also move the offices of The Ace, the only periodical in the west devoted to the aircraft industry, to Glendale and will publish it from here. He is at present preparing a special edition dealing with Glendale and the municipal flying field here, which will be off the press within a few days and which will then carry the news of Glendale's public spirited setting aside of the United States who are interested in flying and the advancement of the aircraft industry.

W. B. Kinner Starts Factory
Work has already been started by W. B. Kinner, of the Kinney Airplane & Motor Corporation, on the erection of his factory at the aviation field, and the lumber is now on the ground, with a force of workmen carrying on the preliminary work in connection with the building of the Kinney plant.

Other firms are expected to sign leases with the city for factory sites within a few days, and this will immediately be followed by the construction of more factories.

Among the firms that intend to locate here within a short time is the Catron & Fox Aeroplane & Engine company, which will run a regular air service for passengers between here and San Francisco daily, running two planes carrying eight passengers from each end of the route daily, with stops at different towns along the line.

FIGHTING FOLLOWS WHEN SOLDIERS CHARGE UPON GERMAN MOBS

No One Killed But Number Hurt, Reported; Rail Men Are Put to Work

BULLETIN
PARIS, Jan. 27.—France has massed 50,000 troops in the Ruhr coal fields (not counting the French soldiers concentrated elsewhere in the Rhineland) it was learned at the foreign office today.

The total number of French railmen, the majority of whom are 4,800, the majority of whom are volunteers. The rail men called to the colors were told that their period of service would be twenty-three days.

Strike Is Increasing
DUSSELDORF, Jan. 27.—Except for French military trains, railway traffic in the Ruhr coal fields was practically at a standstill today.

No coal was being shipped into France or Belgium, although a few trains left for German points, against the express commands of the French.

It is estimated that about 175,000 coal miners, iron and steel workers and railroad workers are idle.

There is a great scarcity of freight cars for fuel shipments.

French railway canal workers are arriving to supplant the Germans. The French have decided against requisitioning German labor for the time being for fear of trouble. Isolated disorders were reported from the occupied districts, but, for the most part, the people are sullenly passive.

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, Jan. 27.—Martial law was declared at Treves and Kreutznach by the French today following riots in which a number of persons were injured, said Mayence advices to the Petit Parisien.

The trouble began when the French military authorities deported ten German officials from Treves. Mobs formed in the streets and French civilians were attacked.

French colonial troops charged the mobs and fighting followed. No one was killed.

Treves and Kreutznach are at the extreme southern end of the German territory taken over by the allies after the armistice. It is quite distant from the Ruhr and Westphalian industrial districts seized by the French a fortnight ago.

Near Martial Law
A stage of siege which is approximate to martial law, has been prevailing in the newly occupied zones ever since the French went in.

The communist newspaper Humanite is agitating for the railway men's union to protest against mobilization of rail employees for duty in the occupied territory.

According to press estimates, between 4,000 and 5,000 French railroad workers have already been sent into the Ruhr for duty upon German railroads. They are taking the place of German workmen who went on strike in protest against the French seizures.

Take Command of Boats
Twenty-five French officers of rank and 150 petty officers are on their way from Brest to the Ruhr to take command of the boats and barges on the Ruhr river and the adjacent canals that run through the German coal fields.

General Wegand, chief of staff to Marshal Foch, who has been investigating conditions in the Rhineland, has returned to Paris and reported to the cabinet today.

Croasdale of 121 North Rosemont avenue, were seriously injured, and a third, Mrs. Parkinson, of 132 North Townsend avenue, was severely shaken up when the cab in which they were returning to Eagle Rock from Los Angeles was struck by a Heinz truck at the intersection of San Fernando road and Grandada streets, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Standley of 132 North Townsend avenue, were members of the party but luckily escaped.

The party was returning from the city where, at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. "Bob" Schuler had performed a marriage ceremony uniting Miss Marie Alva Hedges and W. J. Standley in the holy bonds of matrimony, the accident happening within thirty minutes after the conclusion of the ceremony. Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Parkinson and Mr. Croasdale had accompanied the young people to Los Angeles to witness the nuptials.

Mr. Croasdale, who is a man 74 years of age, received several broken ribs and an injury to the spine in the collision. He is at his home at 121 North Rosemont avenue resting as easily as could be expected under the circumstances. He is a grandfather of the bride.

Mrs. R. C. Brown, mother of Mrs. Standley, suffered severe internal injuries and shock from the accident. At the present time she is in a state of nervous collapse, but is expected to recover.

Mrs. Parkinson was scratched and bruised about the head, but is not considered seriously injured.

Orville Kimble, driver of the taxi, also received minor injuries.

The truck was driven by D. E. Woodward, who was immediately placed under arrest, charged with reckless driving. He was later released under $250 bonds.

The Twentieth Century club dance at the club house in Eagle Rock this evening is expected to be largely attended. Old time dances will be featured, and the newer ones will not be overlooked.

Mrs. L. M. Maynard, Mrs. Wm. A. Sampson and Mrs. C. W. Young will receive the guests. Light refreshments will be served.

Miss Gloria King of Long Beach was a guest of Miss Constance Braasch of 138 Canyon Trail, over night Wednesday. The two young ladies were initiated into the Beta Chi Mu at the University of California, southern branch, the same evening.

SELECT CAST FOR COMMUNITY PLAY IN EAGLE ROCK

'Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh,' Is Comedy Chosen as Vehicle for Players

Drawing from the best local talent available, the cast to appear in the next Community players' production, "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh," has been chosen. With Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer, talented director of the Eagle Rock Community Players, assuming the title role.

The curtain will rise in this production, which is one of Harry Smith's best comedies, on the evening of February 6 and 7 at the Central school auditorium.

The peak of interest in choosing the cast was reached at the last rehearsal, when Mrs. Fischer ushered in Pasadena Community players' favorite leading man, Victor Jory, to play opposite Dorothy Squire, pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Squire, who is a popular student at the Glendale high school, and who, in this production, plays the leading juvenile role. There had been many conjectures as to who would be chosen to play opposite her, and it has been rumored that the appearance of Victor Jory, whose stage appearance is irreproachable, received the unanimous approval of the feminine members of the cast.

Member of the cast are as follows: Justin Rawson—Mrs. P. W. Blumer; Miss Rawson, his sister—Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison; Geoffrey Rawson, his young son—Victor Jory; Anthony Rawson, his elder son—A. Brady; Peter Swallow—Milton Berry Jr.; Kitson—Nelson Decon; Mrs. DeSalle—Mrs. Ellen Terry; Mrs. Leavitt—Marjorie Maurice; Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh—her elder daughter, (Adele)—Mrs. Elgie Lowry Fischer; Violet de Salle—Adele's younger sister—Dorothy Squire; Nina—Mrs. R. L. Woodhouse.

Excavations on the site of Thebes, which have been in progress for more than sixteen years, have been rewarded, for the excavators have uncovered three sealed chambers, practically intact, in which were found the funeral paraphernalia of King Tutankhamen, who reigned 1400 years before Christ.

Royal furniture has been found by the excavators which is said to be the most ancient ever yet discovered. Within the first chamber were found three magnificent state couches, all gilt, with exquisite carving, beaded beds, also exquisitely carved and gilt and inlaid with ivory and semi-precious stones. Beneath one of the couches was the state throne of Tutankhamen, probably one of the most beautiful objects of art ever discovered, and perhaps the first throne of an Egyptian king ever to be found.

Four chariots, encrusted with stones and rich gold decoration, were found with a charioteer's apron of leopard skin hanging over the seat.

Boxes containing royal robes, handsomely embroidered and encrusted with precious stones, were also uncovered.

The ceremony was witnessed by close friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The young people will make their home at 132 North Townsend avenue, Eagle Rock, for the present.

Mr. Standley has a good position in Glendale.

OIL FROM DOGFISH

A high-grade oil is to be manufactured from dogfish which swarm in Pacific waters. A newly formed company in the Queen Charlotte Islands, off the mainland of British Columbia, will catch the fish in traps and extract the oil by a new and patented process. The traps will not interfere with the salmon and other food fish.

Plans are under way for the beautification of the property of the American Legion in Grand View Memorial park, where the cemetery of the organization is situated, and additional territory will be included in the area that has already been set aside as a burying ground.

The work of the landscape artists who have been employed to lay out and improve the Grand View Memorial park has worked wonders, and many of the leading undertakers of Los Angeles and adjacent towns are calling the attention of their clients to the many advantages to be found in the Glendale park, with the result that many persons have already purchased burial plots there and a number of others are planning to follow their example.

"The beauties of Grand View Memorial park," says Len C. Davis, president of the association having charge of the property, "remove all sense of mortality and induce a sense of sacred calm and peace that can hardly be found in any similar plot in the country."

COPPER MINES IN BIG COURT FIGHT

Echo of Warfare of Old Butte Heard in Suit to Get Four Millions

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 27.—Suit for recovery of $4,000,000 by the Anaconda Copper company from the Davis Daly Copper company, which will go on trial here early this year, is an echo—possibly the last echo—of half a century of the most bitter mine war ever waged in the west.

The mining history of Butte — and Butte's history is all mining — is a tale of continuous battle, above ground and below. There is no casualty list. No one will ever know how many men have died in the long struggle. For in the early days of Butte the fatalities were mostly underground. And the miner who broke through a subterranean wall and playfully dropped a stick, keg or half ton of dynamite on the heads of a shift of "the enemy," working in a drift below, didn't rush into print with a full account of what had happened and why.

When the burly copper miners of one company met the equally robust diggers of a rival corporation above ground trouble invariably followed. Almost invariably it became the duty of someone to call the coroner. Another "spicdee" would go on record.

Many 'Suicides'

An interesting slant at Butte's history is gained from a page of ancient municipal statistics for one winter month. These show that before the city reached the dignity of 50,000 population there were thirty above-ground "suicides" recorded in thirty consecutive days. No one will venture a guess at what was taking place beneath the surface in the same period. Few bodies ever came to the top to plague the police. A heavy charge of dynamite in action has a habit of leaving little flesh-and-bone evidence.

Take the word of veteran mining men of Montana for it, the mountain of copper on the side of which Butte clings like the nest of a gigantic eagle on the ledge of a cliff is the tomb of more miners who have met with sudden and violent deaths than any mining area of the same size in the world.

Butte Wild Then

But this scarlet history was written in the days when Butte was Butte, the only thing of its kind in existence, when nearly every other door downtown opened into a gambling house and those in between were entrances to dance halls and all-night restaurants—the Butte that inspired Mary McLane's startlingly personal story of "Me, Mary McLane."

Butte has been tamed. W. A. Clark was copper king of Montana and father of Butte before he bought an artificial ear and became United States senator. Clark had a near-rich monopoly on the mountain of rich copper ore for a time after its discovery. With little attention to the latest and improved mining methods, Clark wrested several millions from the earth by simply driving shafts into it he struck pay dirt—or pay rock—then following the ore either way, crooked and straight, as long as it held out. One vein exhausted, he would shift to others.

Used Modern Method

F. Augustus Heinze, a young mining engineer, cut in on the Clark monopoly by finding the apex of the lode and starting to follow it "according to Hoyle," whether the vein crossed the drifts of the "copper king" or not.

Butte's mining war was fought in the courts, with nothing settled. The differences then became personal between the rival operators and were quickly taken up by the miners themselves and

BUILDING PERMITS REACH $40,000 IN TWO DAYS

Slump Passes With Coming Of Clear Weather: Homes Are Scheduled

Building permits in Eagle Rock took a sudden jump again Thursday and before the close of business Friday evening had reached close to 40,000. For the two or three days prior to that time, most of the permits were issued for garages, the wet weather having warned autoists that their machines needed protection, according to the opinion voiced at the city hall, when attention was called to the slump in permits.

One of the fine homes for which a permit was issued Friday was that of P. M. Custer, who will erect a two-story, eight-room residence at 331 North Townsend avenue. The building will cost $7000 or better and occupy a site 25x48 feet. A garage will also be built in the rear.

More Good Homes

L. J. Dannel will soon start a five-room residence as well as a garage at 335 North Ellis. The building will have five rooms. Cement will be used as building material. The cost will be in the neighborhood of 4000.

W. R. Denman will build a five-room stucco and garage at 143 North Townsend at an expenditure of $4000.

W. L. Sheppard a garage at 245 North Peyton, costing $100.

G. C. Fetter's cottage of five rooms for $3000 at 236 North Hartwick.

H. Bohanan a five-room cement cottage and garage at 223 Summer avenue to cost $3500.

Ralph T. Vasquez a garage at 548 East Park at a cost of $130.

C. J. Eubanks a six-room home and garage at 137 North College View at a cost of $4000.

Seventh-day Adventist association, by its pastor, C. S. Pratt, was issued a permit to build a frame tabernacle at 139 West Myrtle at an estimated cost of $3500.

Glasgow Householders Are Living Rent Free

GLASGOW, Jan. 27.—House tenants in Glasgow have started a "no-rent" strike, and it is estimated that landlords are losing nearly five millions dollars weekly in consequence.

The strike arises out of the Rent acts and a decision of the House of Lords. The Rent acts gave landlords the power to increase their rents by 40 per cent. The House of Lords, however, said the imposition of the increase was illegal unless the tenant had first been given notice to quit.

Not one landlord in a hundred had given this notice. They merely put on the increase. And now the tenants have made up their minds to pay no more rent until the unlawful increase shall have been worked off.

This means that they propose to live rent-free for the next nine or twelve months.

Landlords are now trying to get fresh legislation adopted which will reverse the decision of the House of Lords.

Boston Building Laws To Follow New York's

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Buildings fashioned after the Woolworth building in New York, with a series of setbacks, will grace the streets of this city, if the plans of Mayor Curley go through.

The mayor has instructed Building Commissioner John J. Mahoney to get up an entirely new set of building laws, taking as a basis those of New York, with the exception of the tenement house code, and to do away with all "jokers."

carried on for almost half a century.

Most of the original actors died. One faction sold out to the Daly interests. The war "pettered out" like the richest of the copper veins.

With the bringing of the Anaconda vs. Daly suit, old timers are asking if ancient hostilities are to reopen on a grand scale.

AT LAST!

The Roselli property on the west side of Grand View Avenue at Kenneth Road has been bought for subdivision and will be ready "from now on" for reservation.

It Will Be Known As KENNETH GRAND

The building sites will range from 60x156 to large villa sites.

Grand view frontage is very limited and runs as follows: 80 by 175 at $3000, up to 80x300 at $4500, and a VERY FEW of them. The 60x156 will range from $1100 to $2250.

We confidently expect the entire allotment to be absorbed in a short time. Get yours early. No speculators, no temporary buildings and no lots sold under one-fourth cash in thirty days and one-fourth more in sixty days.

Restrictions to insure good homes.

INDUSTRIAL LAW BREAKER WANTED

William Allen White, of Kansas, Seeks Violator For Test Case

By DOUGLAS G. TINSLEY
For International News Service

KANSAS CITY Kan., Jan. 27.—Wanted—One first class violator of Kansas' Industrial Court Law. Such is the plaintive wail going up from one William Allen White of Emporia, Kan., and second fiddle in the "Henry and Mc" case. Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, played first violin in the case, which "blew up" at Emporia recently when the county attorney, acting on orders of Attorney General Richard Hopkins, who in turn, received his instructions from Governor Allen, had the case against White dismissed.

Now the industrial court law continues flying from the masthead with none to say "nay," while William Allen White, discomfited and shorn of his avowed purpose to test its legality through all the high courts of the land in order to find out whether or not "free speech" is a dead issue in the Jayhawk state, walks the stage of Kansas politics as melancholy as the Dane of Shakespeare's creation.

Noted Photographer Claims Males 'Make Up,' Seeking to Be Attractive

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Jan. 27.—No longer need men smile smugly and derisively to themselves when they catch their womenfolk titivating and "making up" before the mirror, for, in the opinion of Walter Stenham, who has photographed more than 2,000 famous British people, from King George downwards, and altogether some 25,000 others, mostly men, they are quite as vain as women.

In a lecture to the city of London branch of the Y. M. C. A., he gave some interesting and amusing anecdotes culled from his many years' experience as a society photographer.

Hard to Believe

"What would you think," he asked his audience, "if you opened a dressing room door one morning to find within the high officer whom you were about to photograph, standing in front of the mirror removing the curling pins from his mustache?"

"Men talk about their women folk 'touching up,' etc., but I can assure you that men are just as bad."

Referring to the famous people that he had photographed, Mr. Stenham said that best of all sitters was Mr. Lloyd George. One must admit that his was the face of a genius.

Although he has photographed over 25,000 people, he had never come across two faces absolutely alike.

At any rate Kansas is in a ferment and the industrial court law is the ferment. The battle over the law will be fought, but in the state capital at Topeka instead of in the courtroom at Emporia.

Parrot That Told of Fire Left to Perish

DETROIT, Jan. 27.—"Polly is dead!"

Awakened by the screeches of his pet parrot, Frank J. Morrison helped his wife and four children to safety from their burning home. No one thought of Polly until the charred body was found in the ruins of the home.

As a rule, however, and in all circumstances, the people can thank God for the opposition in congress.

Hospital President Is One of First Inmates

CINCINNATI, Jan. 27.—Detective Frank Hall, president of the New Mercy Hospital for colored people in this city, unwittingly became one of its first patients the other day. He stopped at the building to see how the work was progressing and was hurt when a crate of asbestos he offered to help move slipped and caught his leg. His injuries were not serious.

DEATHS, FUNERALS

MRS. ALEXANDER B. HOSACK
In the death yesterday afternoon, Friday, January 26, 1923, of Mrs. Alexander B. Hosack, Glendale lost another one of "the old folks." Mrs. Hosack's death occurred at her home at 703 East Harvard street after an illness of several years.

Born in Manchester, England,
84 years ago, Eliza Wrigley came to America in 1853. She was married in Pennsylvania in 1855 to Alexander Blackburn Hosack, whose death occurred in Glendale
December 26, 1918.

Mrs. Hosack is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. W. Fairchild of Pasadena, formerly a resident of Glendale, and Misses Luella and Elizabeth Hosack with whom she made her home, and two sons,
George M. and Moulton J., prominent attorneys of Pittsburgh, Pa.
During her seven years' residence in Glendale Mrs. Hosack had been an invalid and confined to her home.

As a tribute to Mrs. Hosack's memory, Dr. E. M. Collier of 103 1/2 North Brand boulevard, a friend of the family, has written the following:

"Her friends consisted in her neighbors and those who visited her in her home frequently. The beauty of her character, the sweetness of her disposition, her intelligence and deep interest in the current events of the world, made her a very interesting companion, and won the love and esteem of all who came into daily touch with her.

"Her Christian faith and trust in the Lord Jesus Christ, her quiet, consistent piety, her daily devotion to the Lord, her patience under suffering and her sustained hope of being finally with the Lord, have made her a source of comfort and of inspiration to her friends, and a source of Christian help and uplift to all who knew her.

"The simple grace and sweetness of her life shone forth in all her nurture and training of her children, so that as they grew year by year they accepted her outlook upon life and their characters were thereby molded in strength and trust and Christian purity. They learned to hold up in their turn the high Christian ideals, which they saw exemplified in their mother's life.

"And now she has gone to be with the Lord Jesus, whose voice has called her, saying 'I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am there ye may be also.'"

Funeral services are being arranged by the Jewel City Undertaking company for Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Hosack home at 703 East Harvard street.
Rev. W. E. Edmonds will officiate and burial will take place in Forest Lawn.

PRESENT BUDGET ON MONDAY, PLAN

Draft Ready for Submission To Government, Is Report by control Board

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Haggard and worn from days and nights of juggling figures, Mrs.
Nellie B. Pierce, member of the state board of control, today confided to me that a pencil copy of California's budget would be ready for Governor Richardson's consideration this week end.

In the senate it was announced that the governor would present the budget on Tuesday, or possibly Monday afternoon. That means adjournment for the constitutional recess will come next Friday.

When Mrs. Pierce was asked if the board had accomplished Governor Richardson's aims in economy, she said in a voice which has become but a whisper, "I hope so." Seemingly it has been some ordel.

Slashing appropriations on a wholesale scale is no joke, according to members of the board, but they have met with wonderful cooperation from several department heads favorable to the administration.

Favor Economy
Also, both houses of the legislature have shown a real desire to economize and Governor Richardson has been given the assurance of Senator John Joseph Crowley, recognized leader of the San Francisco solons, that they will back him as far as possible in carrying the program to completion.

An attitude of agreeable persuation is noted in the session, which leads to the conclusion that Los Angeles may be able to swing the north in the matter of reapportionment based on the Boggs bill, probably, which will give the south two more senators and four more assemblies.

While this is not all Los Angeles county is due, it is likely the best it will get for, without the governor taking the whip in hand and holding the legislature to its constitutional duty. Assemblyman Baker's appointment measure will be defeated by San Francisco and the farm bloc.

ALHAMBRA'S STAR PILES UP SCORE

Visitors' Sharpshooter Drops Ball in Basket From Center of Floor

The uncanny ability of one of Alhambra high school's basketball team to "make" baskets from the middle of the floor caused yesterday afternoon's game to be lost by Glendale Union high school.
The score was 30-20 and it is reported that 22 of the winning points were made by one player on the Alhambra team.

Captain Neil Melver and Howard Wimmer, guards, and George Jansen, center, played the game throughout. Robert Roach and Howard Elliott started the game as forwards but were replaced by

Narcotic Ring Chiefs Under Arrest, Belief

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—
Federal agents believed today they had in custody the "king and queen" of the San Francisco narcotic ring.

In a sensational raid five arrests were made, including "Pete" Settles, alleged monarch of the ring, and Mrs. Anna M. Patterson, his sister-in-law, know, according to the federal agents, as "queen of the opium ring."

Mrs. Settles, George Thompson and Peter Bornhofen were also arrested. Drugs and a small arsenal of drug apparatus were seized.

May Impose Ad Valorem Tax to Meet Deficit

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—In his biennial report submitted to Governor W. W. Richardson,
State Controller Ray L. Riley states "it is probable that the forthcoming budget will exceed prospective revenues, irrespective of a drastic retrenchment program, and in that event an ad valorem tax will be required or other sources of revenue developed."

After setting forth that fixed charges have increased $17,000-two since the 1921 budget appropriation, Controller Riley
comments as follows:

"The great increase of population and material resources in mal demand for public constructive enterprises, particularly education with its many ramifications, roads and welfare agencies. These emergencies have been met by bond issues until the total bonded indebtedness for public purposes has reached staggering proportions."

California for the year 1922-23 crease of $12,335,969 over 1921-

Buy Grand Piano

A unanimous decision to furnish a grand piano for the new home of the Tuesday Afternoon club was the outstanding feature of the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Club Music Section with Mrs. Paul Hoffman at her home at 327 North Maryland avenue.

The problem of raising funds for the instrument has, of course, presented itself to the women and they have decided that one means will be to open their meetings to any number of guests, who will be asked to pay a twenty-five-cent admission fee.

Assisting hostesses at the meeting yesterday were Mesdames Bine J. Smith and Casper Tuttle.

Mrs. John D. Cole was highly complimented on the program she had arranged on the subject,
"Women Composers." In introducing the artists of the afternoon, Mrs. Cole gave a comprehensive and interesting sketch of American and foreign women composers.

Miss Ella James, violinist, a newcomer to Glendale; Miss Elizabeth Mottern, local soloist, and Mrs. Alice Ripley, pianist, appeared on the program.

Miss James first played a program including "The Swan" (Saint-Saens and "Berceuse" (Neruda). She was accompanied by Mrs. Ripley. Miss James is an artist of rare ability and she was accorded a hearty reception by the club women. She later played two of her own compositions, "Audre" and "Slumber Song."

Miss Mottern's singing is always a great pleasure and she delighted her friends yesterday by singing "Good-bye Sweet Day" (Kate Vannah), "Sans Amour" (Chaminade), "Sunlight" (Harriett Ware), "Rain" (Pearl Curran) and "Twilight" (Katherine Glyn). She played her own accompaniment.

Guests In City

A party of four, Mr. and Mrs.
A. L. Davis, Mrs. F. M. Rinehart and E. Allen, motored Thursday night to the home of Mrs. L.
Jones, in Los Angeles, where a large party of friends had assembled to enjoy an evening of dancing and music.

Mrs. Rinehart rendered a number of vocal selections in her lovely contralto voice, among them "Afterwards" by Mullen, and a number of old Southern songs she learned as a child. In rendering these selections, Mrs.
Rinehart accompanied herself on the guitar, the effect proving very charming.

Little Ethel Davis gave a number of classical dances.

At midnight a luncheon of sandwiches, fruit salad, coffee and cake was served, after which ended a most pleasurable evening.

AWARD HONOR TO GLENDALE YOUTH

Robert Rowley Chosen as Member of Exclusive University Society

Robert Rowley of Glendale, member of the senior class at the University of Southern California, where he is completing a course in electrical engineering, has just received the highest honor that can be conferred on a student in the institution. Notes from the Trojan of January 26, which follow, are explanatory of the presentation of the honor.

"Highest award comes to leaders of men in all activities of University of California." Seventeen men, pledges of 'Skull and Dagger', men's honorary fraternity, were presented with ribbons of 'Skull and Dagger' in chapel Thursday morning. Membership in this organization is considered one of the highest honors which can be conferred upon a U. S. C. student. It comes as a recognition of especially noteworthy service to the student body and to the university.

Honor for Rowley

"Only eight active members of the fraternity were in the school this year. Since its founding in 1913 it has numbered among its members the greatest celebrities that the university has ever turned out. Robert Rowley is a most successful president of the American Association of Engineers, and has done a great deal toward placing the local chapter of the engineering organization on the map."

Robert Rowley is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley of 334 Vine street. He was first secretary of the local chapter of engineers' organization, and was president last year of the engineers' fraternity, Theta Sigma Nu.

TWO ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGES

Youths Said to Have Made
Confession of Slaying
Insurance Agent

EL CENTRO, Jan. 27.—An inquest will be arranged here today over the body of Leslie L. Nichols, Los Angeles insurance man, whose mutilated corpse was found buried in the shallow sand near Mecca late yesterday by Sheriff Sam Ryan of Riverside county.

The sheriff's posse was directed to the lonely grave by Frank Campbell and Charles Davis, who are both said to have made a confession that they murdered Nichols. Though the party which discovered the body, which showed a fatal bullet hole in the head as well as bruises about the head and face, was led by Riverside officials, the exact spot of the grave was in Imperial county. The case will immediately be transferred here.

Slew Benefactor

In their purported confession Davis and Campbell, both 18, are said to have declared Nichols offered them an automobile ride while passing through the desolate country. Later, they said, they decided to rob him.

The two youths were arrested at Riverside last Wednesday when found in possession of a stolen automobile.

ENGLAND HAS OBTAINED BEST DEBT CONDITIONS, IS REPORT

Chancellor Tells His Compatriots Americans
Refuse to Cancel Obligations

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer and head of the British debt funding mission, who arrived from Washington today to report to the cabinet, said that Great Britain has already obtained the best terms that the United States will give and that he will not return to America for any further negotiations.

The chancellor expressed keen regret that the negotiations on the American side "had fallen into the hands of politicians."

Mr. Baldwin and the other members of the mission arrived at Southampton upon the White Star liner Olympic.

No Better Terms

"There is no better hope of getting America to offer better terms," said Baldwin. The problem now is whether the British cabinet will accept the terms offered. Any change of opinion in the United States would be against England, not in our favor. Cancellation has got upon the nerves of the American people. I am not going back to the United States on war debt business."

Chancellor Baldwin revealed that the American terms call for a 3 per cent interest rate during the first ten years; 3 1/2 per cent after the first ten years' period, and a sinking fund rate of one-half of one per cent.

The 5 per cent being paid at present runs until a final agreement is reached.

Other members of the British party agreed with Mr. Baldwin that debt cancellation was a very unpopular subject in the United States at this time.

Tells British View

The chancellor of the exchequer elaborated upon his views, saying: "The American people as a whole think they are doing an extraordinarily generous thing to offering the terms they did to the British. I am afraid, however, that the British do not think so. It is a matter of opinion where it will be possible to fund the debt for many years to come. In the meantime we are to go on paying five per cent interest on the principal sum, if there is no settlement. We are bound by agreement to do so. There is no chance of getting America to offer better terms."

"We must look at the advantages and disadvantages of refusing those terms. There is a certain amount of back interest owing that will have to be added to the total sum."

"The great difference between the United States and this country is that the whole settlement of debts in America is in the hands of politicians."

Gives Confirmation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Confirmation was obtained at the United States treasury here this afternoon that the British debt envoys have carried back to London with them an American proposal to liquidate the $5,000,000,000 debt over a period of sixty-two years, at an interest rate of 3 per cent for the first ten years, and 3 1/2 per cent thereafter.

The proposition, it was announced at the treasury department, represents the "minimum terms" which the American commission would be willing to ask congress to endorse.

The treasury confirmed the main outlines of the American proposition after the International News Service had brought to its attention the statements of Chan-

FARMER TRAINING TO BE INCREASED

College of Agriculture to Be Integral Part of State University

recommendation that the College of Agriculture be maintained as an integral part of the University of California was made in a report submitted by the governor's commission appointed two years ago to investigate the advisability of separating the two institutions.

The commission visited the farm schools and universities in ten states and studied them from all angles.

The commission recommended that, for the present, the instructive work of the College of Agriculture be divided between the Farm School at Davis and the University at Berkeley, and that where such division takes place it be in accordance with the junior college system of the state and provide for the first two years at Davis or elsewhere and the last two years at Berkeley.

Many Recommendations

Recommendation is made that the following additions to the Berkeley plant be made at the earliest possible date, the first one immediately:

Between 100 and 200 acres of tillable land within 15 minutes of the campus. Such an area is available, the report says, and aid can be obtained from the bay cities in financing the purchase. This land would be used as an outside laboratory.

A large acreage of hill land for the use of the forestry and animal husbandry departments.

A building similar to Hilgard Hall completing the agricultural group to house instruction in agricultural economics and to provide meeting places for agricultural associations and for short course classes.

Additional class rooms and laboratories for plant and animal nutrition.

For Research Work

Greenhouses for research in plant and animal life.

A factory type building to house investigations into the means of preserving perishable products and the processes by which the products of the farm are changed into forms used in human consumption.

Provision for instruction in domestic science and home economics be made at Davis.

That non-degree work at Davis be transferred to other institutions and in its place, the short courses at Berkeley and Davis be extended and developed to meet the needs of persons above the age of eighteen who lack high school or other preparation.

A large measure of autonomy for the College of Agriculture.

The admission requirements of the College of Agriculture be maintained at the same level as those for the rest of the university, but that the attention of the proper authorities be called to the excellent records of many non-recommended high school graduates in the University Farm School and to the possibility of a more satisfactory standard for recommendation from the high school to the College of Agriculture.

The commission also suggested the more frequent appointment to the board of regents of men who are leaders in rural life and that experiment station work be centered at Berkeley, Davis and Riverside.

Banker's Son Held; Girl Leaps 4 Stories

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—John S. Larcombe, Jr., 35, son of a Washington banker, was taken into custody and Elizabeth Rhodes, 20 years old and pretty, was recovering at a hospital from injuries received when she leaped from a window of Larcombe's fourth story apartment in the capital's fashionable residential district.

Miss Rhodes' mother said Larcombe had been attentive to her daughter for several weeks, and that she called upon him at his apartment early last evening.

The girl jumped out of Larcombe's room, Mrs. Rhodes said, "to save her honor." Miss Rhodes is confined in a local hospital.

URGES BUILDING FOR PERMANENCY

Use of Home Compensates
For Inability to Sell for Amount Invested

The right kind of home building is a subject Donald R. Gillin, service manager of the Bentley Lumber company at 460 West Los Feliz road, enjoys talking on. He says: "Not long ago a home builder came to me a great deal upset in his mind over some well intended advice his friends had been giving him about going ahead at this particular time with his home building. They had told him 'It's a fine home, just what you need for your family, but don't build it—you'll never get your money out of it.'"

"This man is not the first to have cold water thrown on his hopeful building plans. Thousands have been stopped by giving ear to this line of talk just at the deciding moment."

Encouraged Builder
"Now we gave this perplexed home builder what we believe was good counsel. We told him to go ahead, to build for use more than for sale. It is only when you propose to put your money into a home that your well-meaning friends rise up and cry: 'It's a fine home, all right, and you need it; but suppose you want to sell—you would never be able to get your money out of it.'"

"Now, it is true that a great number of homes and other buildings have been sold after serving well for a period of years, and their full cost has been realized, perhaps more. If it becomes desirable to sell and you can get your money out, well and good; but if not, that is nothing to cry about. You will have had the use and the enjoyment of the home for all those years."

"In other words, build from plans and build right; plan and build for permanency, for lasting satisfaction and use, not so much for sale."

HYACINTHS FORM LOVING TRIBUTE

Bouquet From Myers' Garden Is Touching Memorial to Aged People

There's a vase of beautiful white Roman hyacinths standing on the counter of The Glendale Evening News office as a memorial to the three members of The Evening News Sunset club whose deaths have occurred since the first of the year: Mrs. Esther Smith, 94 years of age; Henry W. Myers, 90 years of age; and Mrs. Lucinda Houghtaling, 93 years of age.

Mr. Myers, whose death occurred Saturday, January 20, 1923, was a great lover of plants and flowers and grew the white Roman hyacinths in great quantities.

The flowers are blooming now in profusion in the garden at the Myers home and Mr. Myers' daughters, Misses Ida D. and Harriet J. Myers, gathered the bouquet and sent it to the News office for the pleasure of employees and patrons.

Three Are at Rest

Within three weeks' time Glendale has lost three of its fine old people. They reached the last milestone in life's journey and wary, lay down to rest.

There are still a small group of nonagenarians enrolled in the Evening News honorary organization and as a mark of pride and respect for these and other old people in Glendale The Evening News is taking this opportunity to enlist its readers in bringing to our attention the old people of the city.

Los Angeles Man Freed On Kidnaping Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—The kidnaping charge brought against Lee Herbert, automobile man, by Miss Dorothy Koch, former Follies beauty, who declared Herbert had kidnaped her in Los Angeles and kept her a prisoner in a hotel room here for a week, was dismissed by Police Judge O'Brien. He held that there was no foundation for the charge as it was not shown that the girl was under duress either during the trip or at the hotel.

SEEKS TO X-RAY FORMER PHARAOH

Old Egyptian Mummy to Be Examined, Provided It's Still in Tomb

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Pharaoh Tut-Ankh-Amen, the mightiest man in the world 3000 years ago, is to be X-rayed if his mummy still lies in the mystery chamber of his recently discovered tomb which Lord Carnarvon will open when he returns to Egypt.

When the archaeologists force open the alabaster coffin and take off the thin covering of beaten gold from the body they will carry the shrouded form into the sunlight and photograph it from every angle, and for the first time in history a movie will be taken of that weird sight, the unwrapping of a mummy.

Taking No Risks

This film will show the mummy as it was deposited in the tomb, and will follow the long and difficult process from the unwrapping of the mummy cloth until the body of the king meets the light of day for the first time for thirty centuries.

"I am taking no risks," said Lord Carnarvon, who has returned to London after his historic find. "I do not know what we shall find in that third chamber, but as there is every indication that the mummy is still there I am taking every scientific precaution, so that no important fact may be lost to the world."

"It is necessary that X-ray photographs should be taken, because the radiographs of a royal mummy which has not been disturbed by tomb robbers will throw important light on the ancient ritual of embalming."

In Need of Funds

"If the mummy proves to be untouched it will enable archaeologists to learn for the first time how a royal mummy was wrapped for burial, and how the magical amulets put on it to protect it from evil spirits in the underworld were distributed."

Unfortunately, according to Lord Carnarvon, further exploration is held up for want of funds, but other countries, notably America, are coming forward with offers of help.

FAIRVIEW SITES ALMOST SOLD OUT

Favorable Terms Lure Buyers
To Attractive Locality
To Build Homes

The twelfth unit of Fairview is selling with remarkable rapidity, there being only twenty lots left in what is the last of 125 acres which has been subdivided by Hamlin & Hepburn in the beautiful northwest section of Glendale in the last year and a half.

A small city within a city has grown up during that time, with about 250 residences, about a thousand population, stores and all the utilities that go with the development of a moderate community.

Any observer must be impressed with the fact that there is a reason for this remarkable development. When nearly 700 people decide on one particular locality for their homes, present or future, there must be some unusual features which appeal to so many different buyers.

An investigation discloses what these features are:

The location is beautiful; on a gentle slope similar to that on which Hollywood is located, with an unsurpassed view, close to transportation as well as school, stores, etc.

Homesites Limited

But all good things come to an end and these beautiful homesites which have been selling on the ridiculously low terms of $50 cash down and $15 per month are limited. There is only just so much land and this is the last piece Hamlin & Hepburn will be able to offer at the same low prices, terms and conditions, viz., that temporary houses may be built on the rear of the lots.

Only twenty more people can take advantage of this advantageous offer, and Hamlin & Hepburn fully expect that there will be very few lots left by Sunday evening, hence they are urging prospective buyers who are looking for this kind of an opportunity to investigate it at once.

Plan Federation of All Veterans in U. S.

N.Y. Jan. 27.—Steps for the federation of all veterans of the wars of the United States, whether or not they are now affiliated with any organization, to protect their interests, especially when they are in public service, will be launched in this city within the current month.

The proposed organization is being supported by Commander William A. Dawkins, himself a veteran, and a number of associates who are connected with various veterans' organizations. The society probably will be called the "Federation of Veterans" and will be open to men of all ranks from all branches of the government service.

It is intended to pattern very closely the present makeup of the American Federation of Labor, and permit the veteran units to remain as at present within the ranks of their own veteran organizations with additional membership in the general federation. The purpose of the federation will be to work for legislative enactments of benefit to the service men of all wars and to exercise a salutary effect upon the body politic in instances of discrimination against veterans in the public service.

Money spent in Glendale helps to make Glendale a bigger and better city.

A CHURCHLESS CITY

THOUSANDS of Glendale people will go to church tomorrow. Thousands more will not. Suppose every Glendale church member and church attendant should decide to stay away from church tomorrow, and the next Sunday and the next.

Suppose the officials of all the Glendale churches should meet and decide to give up the fight against the forces of evil in Glendale, saying, "It takes too much time and too much money, and it's not necessary. Glendale is a clean city anyway."

Suppose all church work in Glendale was given up, all church property abandoned.

Can't you see the people moving out of town, can't you see vans and vehicles of every description filled with household goods, livestock and every kind of goods and chattels that people possess?

Can't you see real estate men closing their offices while frantic property owners besiege them to sell their homes at any price? And can't you hear the answer, "Real estate in Glendale isn't worth anything."

Can't you see the merchants of Glendale advertising their stocks of goods for sale at any price?

Can't you see the banks filled to overflowing with people withdrawing their deposits and removing their securities from the vaults?

Can't you see the hopelessness on the faces of those who cannot dispose of their holdings and are forced to remain here?

Can't you see the spirit of lawlessness that has sprung up over night, a total disregard for the rights of others?

Can't you see the incoming cars bringing only those who, with morbid curiosity, follow all great disasters to pillage and plunder and gloat over the misfortune of others?

Can't you picture beautiful Glendale as an abandoned city?

Is this picture overdrawn?

Take ten minutes and think it over.

The Unmistakable Evidences of Christ's Presence

OVERLOOKED BY THE PHARISEES AT THE FIRST ADVENT NOW OVERLOOKED BY THE MODERN CLERGY—

Do you know that Earth's coming Ruler is now invisibly present?

Do you know that He is now binding the invisible God of this world—Satan?

Do you know that Christ is the only panacea for the ills of human kind?

Put aside creed-fences, denominational relationships and honestly seek the Truth as set forth in God's Word.

RAPID PROGRESS IN TRACT SALES

Glendale Heights Is Mecca For Builders Seeking Sites for Homes

On the eighty acres embraced in the Glendale Heights development of the Haddock-Nibley company at Palmer and Adams, that was opened in March of 1922, more than fifty homes are already completed or in the course of construction, and numerous others are planned, states Manager Preston J. Cannon of the tract.

To keep pace with this rapid building program, all street improvements, including water and gas, are being rushed as fast as is physically possible. The completion and opening up of streets have now made available the few remaining lots of this exceedingly successful subdivision, among them some of the choicest scenic lots in the tract.

"In fact," states Frank Winn, the company's head salesman, "lots of unsurpassed beauty and desirability are now being offered at prices that end all argument. To see is to buy."

Beautiful Vistas
"And speaking about seeing," Mr. Winn continued, "why, from those lots on the crest, you can see Catalina island on the west, the whole San Fernando valley on the east, and the wide stretch up and down the Pacific to the north and south. Words fail and sound like exaggeration, but it is true. We want the people who are looking for homesites to come and see for themselves."

Mr. Cannon and Mr. Winn feel it to be a significant indication of the true homesite value of these lots at Glendale Heights, that more than 50 per cent of them have been bought by Glendale people. And this overwhelming number of Glendaleans who bought were among the first. They bought sites for moderate homes. Later, a number of Hollywood and Wilshire builders bought choice lots there, and the magnificent homes they are now erecting are a credit not only to the Haddock-Nibley company, but to Glendale.

Home Development
The restrictions on these few remaining lots available for purchase vary from $3000 to $6000, allowing a reasonable latitude without lowering of the high standards set for the tract, to protect it for the future.

Many properties have been subdivided and sold off to outsiders, but this development at Glendale Heights, Manager Cannon feels, is particularly a home proposition—something that every Glendalean in the market for lots should investigate fully, at once.

Particularly, in view of the proposed extension of York boulevard, this property would become doubly attractive, as it would lie directly in the path of the new highway link.

That such investigation may be facilitated, the tract office at the corner of Palmer and Adams is open daily, and Manager Cannon, Frank Winn and Will Le Cheminant are there to show the lots, answer all questions and aid the prospective buyer in every way.

Do your buying in Glendale.

12th Unit FAIRVIEW

Lots 50x156. $710 Up. $50 Cash. $15 Per Mo.

In Glendale's Fastest Growing Section.

There is still an opportunity to purchase a homesite in the beautiful Northwest Section of Glendale, on the original easy terms of $50 down, and erect a temporary home.

ONLY A FEW LOTS LEFT

Out of the whole 125 acres which we have subdivided and put on the market within the last year and a half there are only about twenty lots left available for purchase. When these are sold all other property which we will offer in this section will carry much heavier restrictions with no temporary houses permitted and necessarily much higher initial and monthly payments.

Opportunity Knocks Once at Every Man's Door

One of these lots may be yours by a payment of $50 down. Look over your rent receipts for the past year, total them and see what a substantial equity you would have had if you had been paying this on your own property. Hundreds of men have made their start in this way in FAIRVIEW. Come, and let us show you how it can be done before it is too late.

FAIRVIEW is located on a beautiful slope, close to boulevards and electric car transportation; an unsurpassed view, fine soil and drainage, close to schools, stores, etc.

You take possession of the lot as soon as the initial payment is made and get a contract direct from the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. Water, gas and electricity is paid and you can start your temporary home, move in and save rent. Come out today or Sunday. We fully anticipate that by Sunday night there will be very few lots left in what has been one of the most remarkable subdivisions ever offered in Glendale.

If you come Sunday, drive out San Fernando Road to Allen avenue, opposite the Inner-tube Factory, then two blocks up to right and two blocks left. For your convenience office open from 9 to 12 Sunday morning.

TOPOGRAPHY OF TRACT IS VARIED

Beauty of Sparr Heights Is Factor in Luring Home Seekers to Site

Of the many new residential tracts that have been opened up during the past year, Sparr Heights, located in the heart of the Verdugo valley, enjoys a unique distinction because of its size and character. Comprising some 1,500 acres, it possesses the most widely diversified topography of any subdivision in the vicinity of Los Angeles, varying from gentle slopes in the valley itself to elevated mesas, rounded hills, bold promontories, secluded canyons and hillside homesites that climb to the very top of the famous "Green Verdugo Hills" where bridle paths will run along the crests.

From this varied terrain, one can select any kind of location that suits his individual fancy and each one has a glorious view of two superb mountain chains whose wonderful color and constantly-changing aspect are a perpetual source of inspiration.

"We fully realize," observes Mr. Walters, of Francis-Barnum-Walters company, the owners and developers of this beautiful tract, "the speed at which Los Angeles is developing. 'Sunny California' is a slogan now, all over the world, with those who are desirous of coming here to live, where nature has done so much to make life worth living."

Optimism Confirmed

"It is not only homeseekers that are coming, but hard-headed, cold-blooded financiers that are also recognizing Los Angeles' wonderful future. When great financiers like Arthur W. Hays, financiers like Frank A. Vanderlip, railroad and steel magnates like J. L. Haugh of the Union Pacific railway, and Chas. M. Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel company, confirm what sometimes seems like local optimism, our faith is more firmly established. Manufacturers and bankers are forming syndicates with practically unlimited capital, for the purpose of establishing mammoth industrial plants here where unlimited raw materials are near at hand, where labor conditions are the most favorable in the United States and where they, standing at the Gateway of the Seven Seas, can most easily ship their products to three-fourths of the human race. These vast industries will necessitate artisans and mechanics whose numbers will make a big city in itself. These will be compelled to have their homes in the vicinity of the industrial plants.

Conditions require that these plants be located on level ground, accessible to transportation. It stands to reason, therefore, that the territory between what is now the city and the coast, will eventually be overwhelmed by industrial and commercial development. We can see the process going on at the present time. This will force the high-class residence districts outside of what is now the city limits.

Reasons for Choice

"It was a consciousness of these facts, as exemplified in all great cities, that led us to select Sparr Heights as a field for operation. The diversified terrain of an immense virgin territory, beautifully located in a valley famous for its beauty, with magnificent mountain chains on either side and enjoying an ideal climate, enabled us to formulate a comprehensive plan of development that could be carried forward to an architecturally and artistically beautiful conclusion.

Our handsome Community Centre building will successfully localize civic and social activities, and the Oakmont Country club, with its mammoth swimming pool and splendid 18-hole golf course, will draw golf enthusiasts and those who love the outdoor life. "The Greek theatre will furnish the stage for numerous outdoor pageants for the citizens of Glendale, while a big tourist hotel will, eventually, create another center of life and gaiety.

"We find that so urgent is this need for hillside homesites that it is almost impossible to keep pace with it in our development. We have three big crews at work on the grading and curbing and gutting of our boulevards and our architectural board is sitting up nights inspecting plans of houses that are to be built in the immediate future.

"If our experience of three months is any criterion of what to expect in the future, I predict that 1923 will far exceed the past year in realty transactions."

Court Rules Alimony Comes Before Tobacco

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 27.—"Where a conflict arises between a man's obligation to his wife and children and the use of tobacco, the latter must yield to the former."

So the reader will see that Rudyard Kipling might have been wrong at that, in the light of an opinion handed down by the Georgia Supreme court.

This ruling was made in the case of Nan Smith versus Horace Smith, appealed from the courts of Whitfield, where the presiding judge granted the wife alimony in the amount of $20 per month. Smith appealed and introduced testimony to the effect that he made but $54 per month and that after paying the alimony and other expenses the appellant would not have money enough left to buy tobacco.

"We can only hope that by increasing his earnings or by a decrease in the cost of living the appellant will not be deprived of his tobacco," the opinion con-

DANCE RECEIPTS AID SICK FUNDS

Police and Firemen to Add To Reserve by Sale of Ball Tickets

One of the chief purposes of the Glendale Policemen and Firemen's association is the maintaining of a benefit fund to provide for the care of any member in case of injury, sickness or death, and this fund is being greatly augmented by the support Glendaleans are giving the association ball to take place Friday, February 9, in the I. O. O. F. hall.

This benefit fund takes the place of insurance and is increased by a contribution each month from the salary of every policeman and fireman and by donations from citizens and friends. During the sale of tickets for the coming ball Glendaleans have responded heartily and the most recent contribution came from Dr. Henry R. Harrower, who yesterday gave a check of $25.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Demand that the state reclamation board make an accounting of all expenditures to date and that all future transactions of the board be given publicity through the press will be made by James Cremin, new member of the reclamation body, at its next session, he declared. The next meeting of the reclamation board is scheduled for February 20.

"The Crusader," which plays at the Glendale Theatre today, is a strong, all-star cast picture, numbering among its featured players William Russell, George Webb, Helen Ferguson and Fritz Brunette. The story is the picture of the sturdy outdoors type, packed with thrills and romance. It deals with the adventures of a mining prospector.

The five standard vaudeville acts on the boards of the Glendale Theatre today are Tom Davies, "Novelty Cartoonist"; Murray and Berge, "Black and Tan"; Woodland Whistling Trio, "Whistling and Songs"; Charles Leland, "The Nutty Comedian" and George Evers, "Modern Minstrelsy."

PREDICTS GROWTH OF L. A. HARBOR

Destined to Become One of World's Greatest Ports, Speaker Declares

Los Angeles harbor in the next decade may become one of the most important ports in the world. This prediction was made yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn by Maurice Carasso of Los Angeles, who spoke to the Glendale Kiwanis Club upon the subject of "Foreign Trade."

Los Angeles harbor in time may become the most important port in the world, according to Mr. Carasso, who urged that its needs should be given a sympathetic ear and not heard with apathy. He stated that the port of Los Angeles was far short of its present needs and that the harbor of Los Angeles was five years short of its requirements.

Harbor Is Crowded

"You haven't any idea of the amazing quantity of merchandise that comes in there," remarked Mr. Carasso. "We can not take care of it. Sometimes there are five or six vessels at one time that can't get into the harbor."

San Fernando valley truck farmers would be greatly benefited if the canning and exporting of fruit raised in this vicinity were promoted, in the opinion of Mr. Carasso. He commented upon the advantages which would accrue if farmers were able to market 100 per cent of their crops.

President A. L. Ferguson kept the luncheon program moving along in a lively fashion. Songs were led by O. W. Andersen with L. P. Crawford, secretary of the Santa Ana Kiwanis Club, at the piano.

Boosts Boy Scouts

A four minute speech on the Boy Scout movement was made by D. W. Follard, field representative, who emphasized the importance of half a million boys in this country doing a good turn a day. He asserted that parents, teachers and educators and all authorities on the development of children have characterized the Boy Scout movement as fundamentally sound. He stated that the big problem now is not to get boys interested in the organization but to train adult leaders.

"We have to pay the bill which we like it or not," exclaimed Mr. Follard. "Isn't it better to help form character than to try to reform it?"

Community Service was brought up by George B. Karr and M. Walters, who were guests at the luncheon.

PREDICT RISE IN GLENDALE REALTY

Insistent Demand for Sites Here Told by Leading L. A. Auctioneer

"We have more calls for property in Glendale at the present time than for property in any other city or suburb adjacent to Los Angeles, yesterday stated H. M. Motzkus, auctioneer, of the Motzkus-Carlberg company, contractors and builders, 5700 South Vermont avenue, Los Angeles.

The occasion was Mr. Motzkus' visit to Glendale for the purpose of preparing for sale some of his property located at Columbus and Lorraine.

"The calls we get come not only from people living near your city," continued Mr. Motzkus, "but also from tourists who have heard about Glendale long before their arrival here."

Mr. Motzkus further stated that from the present outlook, Glendale will have but few vacant business or residence lots in two more years. He strongly advises property owners not to sacrifice their holdings, as in his opinion realty values will rise from thirty-three and one-third per cent to fifty per cent within the next twenty-four months.

THEATRES

The T. D. & L.

One of the biggest picture successes of the year is "The Pride of Palomar," Peter B. Kyne's great story now showing at the T. D. & L. Theatre. It is a Cosmopolitan production for Paramount, directed by Frank Borzage, of "Humoresque" fame. The drama is powerful and romantic, dealing with California, as do many of Mr. Kyne's novels. It has been read by scores of thousands, as a Cosmopolitan magazine serial, and later in book form.

And tomorrow (Sunday) the feature at the T. D. & L. Theatre is "The Scarlet Car," filmed by Universal from Richard Harding Davis' story of that name, presenting Herbert Rawlinson as the featured player and Claire Adams as the heroine.

Monday will begin the T. D. & L. run of Harold Lloyd in "Dr. Jack."

SPEEDERS FACING JAIL SENTENCES

Bay City Jurist Threatens Reckless Drivers With Prison Terms

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—"Jail for every automobile speeder regardless of who he or she is."

This is the solution of the speed problem offered by Police Judge Sylvester McAtee as a result of his experience in police court in handling traffic law violations.

On top of this he would have a law enacted providing for an examination as to fitness for every person securing a license to drive an automobile.

"In San Francisco they have been killing people at the rate of one every three days," said Judge McAtee. "In Los Angeles it is worse. In other cities it is worse. That is a terrible toll to be taken by a single agency."

"Suppose the street cars were killing one person every three days. Just imagine, if you can, the telephone lines killing one every three days. What would happen? Mau Is Like Child upheaval that it would not be ended until those conditions were stopped."

He told of his opening crusade against drivers traveling thirty-five miles an hour. This has been reduced until now drivers traveling thirty-one miles an hour are put behind prison bars.

Judge McAtee pictured a child going as far along a line of conduct as permitted to go. He asserted that a man is like a child in this respect—that an auto driver will go just as fast as he is permitted to go.

Judge McAtee asserted the present campaign against recklessness should have been started a year ago. He shouldered his share of the responsibility for derelict and declared:

"San Francisco is absolutely 100 per cent for law enforcement—on the other fellow."

Instances were cited of San Franciscans favoring enforcement so long as it did not touch them or their friends, leading to the establishment by Judge McAtee of the rule, "Whoever he may be, if he goes beyond the prescribed speed limit he is going to jail!"

Increase in Vehicles

Judge McAtee expressed the opinion that the people as a whole are not observing regulations as they must if the "automobile is to continue in our midst." He spoke of the rapid increase in the number of motor-propelled machines, saying if the increase continued at the present rate soon

"Billy!" he exclaimed. "Why—Billy—was it you who robbed the bank?"

Even as he spoke Bridge was busy easing the weight of the dead pony from Billy's leg. "Anything broken?" he asked as the bandit struggled to free himself.

"Not so you could notice it," replied Billy, and a moment later he was on his feet. "Say, bo," he added, "it's a mighty good thing you dropped this little pinto here, for I'd a sure got you my next shot. Gee! it makes me sweat to think of it. But about this bank robbing business. You can't exactly say that I robbed a bank. That money was the enemy's resources, an' I just nicked their resources. That's war. That ain't robbery. I ain't takin' it for myself—it's for the cause—the cause o' poor, bleedin' Mexico," said Billy, grinning a large grin.

"You took it for Pesita?" said Bridge.

"Of course," replied Billy. "I won't get a jitney of it. I wouldn't take none of it, Bridge, honest. I'm on the square now. 'I know you are, Billy,' replied the other, 'but if you're caught you might find it difficult to convince the authorities of your high-mindedness and your disinterestedness.'"

"Authorities!" scoffed Billy. "There ain't no authorities in Mexico. One bandit is just as good as another, and from Pesita to Carranza they're all bandits at heart. They ain't a one of 'em that gives two whoops in hell for poor, bleedin' Mexico—unless they can do the bleedin' themselves. It's dog eat dog here. If they caught me they'd shoot me whether I'd robbed their bank or not. What's that?" Billy was suddenly alert, straining his eyes back in the direction of Cuicava.

"They're coming, Billy," said Bridge. "Take my horse—quick! You must get out of here in a hurry. The whole post is searching for you. I thought that they went toward the south, though. Some of them must have circled."

"What'll you do if I take your horse?" asked Billy.

"I can walk back," said Bridge; "it isn't far to town. 'I'll tell them that I had come only a short distance when my horse threw me and ran away. They'll believe it for they think I'm a rotten horseman—the two vagabonds who escorted me to town I mean."

Billy hesitated. "I hate to do it, Bridge," he said.

"You must, Billy," urged the other.

"If they find us here together it'll surely mean that the two of us will get it, for I'll stick with you, Billy, and we can't fight off a whole troop of cavalry out here in the open. If you take my horse we can both get out of it, and later I'll see you in Rio. Good-bye, Billy, I'm off for town," and Bridge turned and started back along the road on foot.

Billy watched him in silence for a moment. The truth of Bridge's statement of fact was so apparent that Billy was forced to accept the plan. A moment later he transferred the bags of loot to Bridge's pony, swung into the saddle, and took a last backward look at the diminishing figure of the man swinging along in the direction of Cuicava.

"Say," he muttered to himself; "but you're a right one, bo," and wheeling to the north he clapped his spurs to his new mount and loped easily off into the night.

CHAPTER XI
Barbara Releases a Conspirator
It was a week later, yet Grayson still was growing about the loss of "that there Brazos pony." Grayson the boss, and the boss's daughter were sitting upon the veranda of the ranchhouse when the foreman reverted to the subject.

"I knew I didn't have no business hirin' a man that can't ride," he said. "Why that there Brazos pony never did stumble, an' if he'd of stumbled he'd a-stood around a year waitin' to be caught up ag'in. I just can't figger it out no ways how that there ten-foot bookkeeper lost him. He must a-shoed him away with a stick. An' a saddle an' bridle an' all gone too. Doggone it!"

"I'm the one who should be peeved," spoke up the girl with a wry smile. "Brazos was my pony. He's the one you picked out for me to ride while I am here; but I am sure poor Mr. Bridge feels as badly about it as anyone, and I know that he couldn't help it. We shouldn't be too hard on him. We might just as well attempt to hold him responsible for the looting of the bank and the loss of the pay-roll money."

"Well," said Grayson, "I give him that horse 'cause I knew he couldn't ride, an' that was the safest horse in the cavy. I wish I'd given him Santa Ana instead—I wouldn't a minded losin' him. There won't no one ride him anyhow, he's thet ornery."

"The thing that surprises me most," remarked the boss, "is that Brazos doesn't come back. He was foaled on this range, and he's never been ridden anywhere else has he?"

"He was foaled right here on this ranch," Grayson corrected him, "and he ain't never been more'n a hundred miles from it. If he ain't dead or stolen he'd a-ben back afore the bookkeeper was. It's mighty queer."

"What sort of bookkeeper is Mr. Bridge?" asked the girl.

"Oh, he's all right I guess," replied Grayson grudgingly. "A feller's got to be some good at something. He's probably one of these here paper-collar, cracker-follege dudes that don't know nothin' else 'cept writin' in books."

The girl rose, smiled, and moved away.

"I like Mr. Bridge, anyhow," she called back over her shoulder, "for whatever he may not be he is certainly a well-bred gentleman," which speech did not tend to raise Mr. Bridge in the estimation of the hard-fisted ranch foreman.

"Funny them greasers don't come in from the north range with that bunch o' steers. They been gone all day now," he said to the boss, ignoring the girl's parting sally.

Bridge sat tip-tilted against the front of the office building reading an ancient magazine which he had found within. His day's work was done and he was but waiting for the gong that would call him to the evening meal with the other employees of the ranch. The magazine failed to rouse his interest. He let it drop idly to his knees and with eyes closed reverted to his never-failing source of entertainment.

And then that slim, poetic guy he turned and looked me in the eye; "It's overland and overland and overseas to where?"

"Most anywhere that isn't here," I says. His face went kind of queer.

"The place we're in is always here. The other place is there." (To Be Continued)

TODAY—William G. Cayce, Los Angeles correspondent, declares that crime and automobile accidents were never more numerous in the southern California city than at present.

MONDAY—American bells ring now in the areas of northern France which were devastated during the war, writes Alice Langellier, Paris correspondent. The bells were purchased through the "Angelus Fund" commemorating Americans and Frenchmen who died in the World War.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE,
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27—Crime fatalities for the year were recorded, and accidents were never more rampant in Los Angeles than they are today. Figures on accidents and crime, as compiled by official statisticians, are nothing less than amazing.

Take traffic accidents. An official report of the Los Angeles Police Department shows that 321 persons were killed during 1922 and 6,393 injured in a total of 42,100 accidents. This is declared to be a decided increase over the record of 1921, which was given as 30,692 accidents with 285 fatalities and 6,362 persons injured. When the 1921 figures were issued they were declared to be astounding.

Of the total killed during 1922 the report shows that 162 were in automobile collisions, 28 in automobile and street car crashes, 33 struck by motorcycles, 28 struck by street cars, 17 by wagons and 2 by airplane crashes.

Speeders, according to the statistics, were responsible for injuries to 691 persons, and an additional 625 accident cases were attributed to incompetent drivers.

Including all motor vehicle accidents, as well as railroad and industrial accidents for 1922, Los Angeles suffered an economic loss of $19,081,800, in a report made by the Automobile Club of Southern California. In this report 412

Actual property damage to automobiles was placed at $371,245.

The average economic value of a human life, using the age of 72 as a maximum limit beyond which the average individual cannot be considered a producer, is $11,578, according to the Automobile Club report, in calculating the value of human life taken in the accident toll.

Experienced insurance men say there are 125 non-fatal accidents to every fatal accident and that the cost of these non-fatal accidents figures three times fatal accidents. With that as a working basis, the Automobile Club finds that fatalities during the year represent $4,770,450. The cost of accidents, other than fatal, amounts to $14,312,350.

As for crime, a startling increase is seen in a report of conditions for the last six months which has been issued by the District Attorney's office.

Different crimes, the report shows, total 1,895. For the same period last year the total was given as 1,275 cases in which complaints were issued.

Most of the complaints were issued for larceny, when 350 such cases were recorded. "Embezzlement of property" complaints issued totaled 225, and complaints for murders numbered fifteen.

Continuing our scheme of tuning commenced in the last article, it may be said that in this method of obtaining resonance it will be found desirable, for better results and a greater degree of accuracy with fewer trial adjustments, to make the indicated wave length of the primary oscillating circuit slightly lower than that which is required for working purposes, as it is found that in practice, when the closed and open are coupled, the wave length of the transmitter will show slight increase of that indicated for the primary circuit alone. A better or sharper wave meter reading will sometimes be available if the wave meter is withdrawn from too close proximity to the oscillation transformer coils, or until the indication is at a minimum value. If this withdrawal is done undisturbing, so to speak, observation of readings continuing while the removal is taking place, sharper definition may, in most instances, be noticed.

Having adjusted the closed circuit to the desired wave length, the antenna and ground connections should then be reconnected to the oscillation transformer.

tion transformer. Having separated as far as possible the primary and secondary of the oscillation transformer during the previous adjustments, these coils should now be brought somewhat closer together.

AMPLIFYING TRANSFORMER

This transformer differs in construction from the others in the design of the magnetic circuit. It is of the shell type, as shown in the illustration. It is possible to place two of these transformers in an amplifying unit where they are very close together without any ill effects, such as howling, which quite often happens in some types of transformers thus employed. This absence of howling is on account of pro-magnetic coupling between transformers.

They Say That

Should another disastrous strike of coal miners portend, at the expiration of the present agreement, April 1, the public will have something to say—something quite positive. Representatives of miners and mine operators are meeting in Chicago, to negotiate a new agreement. There are evidences of obstinacy and the fear of a disagreement is felt in informed circles.

But the Federal Fact-Finding Coal Commission, headed by John Hays Hammond, is watching the Chicago conference keenly. Should there be a deadlock and failure to agree, it is the avowed intention of this Fact-Finding commission promptly to announce to the public just who is responsible for the failure to agree. In other words, blame will be placed directly. Then public opinion is expected to do the rest.

The strike extending over five months last year entailed enormous damage upon the country and brought much hardship to the people. The public is not disposed supinely to tolerate another disastrous strike this year. The people are convinced that a strike is not necessary; that miners and operators could agree if they would, and that they should be compelled to agree.

The public has the right to be served with fuel in ample quantities at a fair price. It is upon the public that miners and opera-

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S BUTTONS

"Uncle Wiggily, I am going out for a little while," said Nurse Fuzzy Wuzzy to the bunny rabbit gentleman one day.

"Very well," spoke Mr. Longears. "But be careful, Nurse Jane, that you don't get stuck in a snow drift as Baby Bunty once did."

"I'll be careful," promised Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

Out of the hollow stump bungalow she went, and Uncle Wiggily went up in the bath room to shave some of his whiskers, for he thought, after Nurse Jane came back, he would go adventuring.

Uncle Wiggily was just putting some lather on his face, when he heard a knock at the side door.

"Oh, all right," I'll come down and let you in, Baby Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily, getting ready to draw his head in again, for the cold air made his pink nose twinkle extra fast.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! What you got on your face—is that whipped cream? I want some!" cried Baby Bunty as she saw the lather on the bunny's whiskers.

"You wouldn't want any of this cream!" laughed the rabbit gentleman as he closed the window. It tastes like soap."

He finished shaving quickly and let Baby Bunty in.

"Oh, where's the nice whipped cream?" asked the little rabbit girl.

"All gone!" chuckled the bunny.

"Oh, but I'm so hungry!" sighed Baby Bunty, who had a tight little jacket on. "If you haven't any whipped cream, can't you give me something else to eat, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I guess so," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman. He took Baby Bunty into the kitchen and set before her a plate of sugar cookies.

"Oh, I love these!" cried Baby Bunty, and she began to eat.

All of a sudden something across the room and hit Uncle Wiggily on the end of his pink nose.

"What was that?" asked the rabbit uncle.

"I—I guess it was one of my buttons," said Baby Bunty.

"One of your buttons?" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Eeppie—of my jacket," went on Baby Bunty. "You see my jacket is too tight—it's too small for me. And when I eat, my lit-tle 'tummy,' as Dr. Possum calls

"Buttons are good for something else than jumping through button holes," chuckled Mr. Longears that night. And if the B letter doesn't get shut up inside a book where it can't buzz around with and C with the I, next you shall hear about Uncle Wiggily and his rubbers.

Solons Will Continue Reapportionment Fight

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Members of the Los Angeles delegation in the legislature made the declaration that they would continue their fight for reapportionment of the state's assembly and senatorial districts, regardless of any tactics pursued by the San Francisco delegation to stave off reapportionment at this session.

If they are unsuccessful in getting a reapportionment bill through the legislature, the southerners are prepared to put the matter before the voters of the state by an initiative measure which would carry out the provisions of the state constitution. The constitution calls for a reapportionment every ten years on the basis of the figures in the last federal census.

If the initiative measure should carry on this basis, it would give Los Angeles twenty-two members in the assembly and ten in the senate.

Measure in Assembly Would Abolish Primary

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—What is believed to be a move to abolish the direct primary system and bring back the old convention system has been launched in both houses of the assembly.

Bills providing for nomination of candidates for office by conventions were introduced by Senator F. A. Arbutnot and Assemblyman Edgar W. Stow of Santa Barbara.

Under the proposed plan three delegates would be elected by the people at the primary election from each assembly district and one delegate from each senatorial district, these to meet in convention each even numbered year in July to select the candidates for their particular party ticket.

AUTO REGULATION SYSTEM PLANNED

Ohio Officials Gather Data To Be Incorporated in Motor Statutes

CLEVELAND, Jan. 27.—What may develop into an ideal system of automobile regulation—in all its diversified aspects—is now being planned for adoption in Ohio by the Ohio State Automobile association.

Fred H. Caley, president of the organization, has begun sounding the views of the various other associations in the state concerning a series of proposals for new legislation. The combined opinion of these organizations is expected to be incorporated into the Ohio state automobile laws.

The proposals on which views are being gathered are:

1. Licensing of all auto owners and drivers, based on passage of mental and physical test and payment of small fee; license revocable by traffic court.

2. Regulation of motor busses and trucks.

3. Control of speed traps by limiting country constables and magistrates.

4. Strengthening of the Atwood law providing for bill of sale on transfer of used car.

5. Repeal of amendment of anti-glare law, so it will not react to benefit manufacturers of dimming devices.

6. Increase of license fees on commercial cars.

7. Legislation requiring auto drivers to stop before crossing railroad tracks.

8. Enforcement of a gasoline tax.

9. Forcing tractor and similar vehicle drivers to remove lugs or spikes from wheels before operating on public road.

10. Raising penalty to $500 for giving short gasoline measure.

11. Raising minimum sentence to one year for auto theft.

The proposals, Mr. Caley points out, have been made to the state legislature by interests of all sorts, some of which he says are purely commercial and selfish. He lists them, however, in order that he may obtain as representative an opinion as possible from all the interested organizations. The influence of the Ohio State Automobile association, Mr. Caley says, will be centered behind this prevailing opinion.

The Automobile Is King

THOSE persons who were asserting that the "saturation point" in the use of the automobile had been reached a few years ago have another guess coming to them. In 1922 the number of passenger cars and trucks registered in the United States made another substantial increase to a total of 12,357,376, an increase of 1,851,716 or 17½ per cent over the previous year.

This means that there is one car for each 8.7 persons in the United States or about enough, allowing extra capacity for the trucks, to move the entire population of the country at one time. This is indeed the land of the motor car, it being estimated that over 80 per cent of all the cars in the world are owned here.

As is natural with its great population and high per capita wealth, New York state leads with over 1,000,000 cars, followed by Ohio with 861,000. California, however, with its excellent roads, all-year-round motor weather and big distances is third, ranking ahead of several other states that have larger populations. But Iowa, the farmers' state, is well up in the first rank on a per capita basis, and Michigan, where most of the cars are made and where the cost of delivery to buyer is low, also stands well up in the list.

If no new demand were developed, the replacement business would in itself constitute an important industry. But there is little evidence to indicate that the saturation point has yet been reached. In 1914 the business seemed to have pretty well matured, but in that year there were only 1,700,000 cars. There are now more than seven times that number and the big companies are planning to produce more cars than ever this year.

The automobile is king, and there are no signs whatever of any slackening of his reign.

U. S. To Exempt Car Emblems, Is Decision

"Emblems designed to be attached to automobiles to show membership in automobile clubs, associations, etc.," are no longer subject to a Federal excise tax, according to a ruling just made by the Internal Revenue Bureau, following the raising of the question of the justice of this tax by the legislative board of the National Motorists' association.

Under regulations adopted for the purpose of interpreting section 900 of the revenue acts of 1918 and 1921, the radiator emblem was held to fall within the category of an automobile accessory or part. As such it was taxed 5 per cent. This tax represents a very considerable sum in the aggregate, and in the case of some N. M. A. clubs as much as $1200 per year.

Don't be sparing with oil anywhere.

WHAT TO DO

According to a late news item, an intrepid motorist of Deacons Corners, Arkansas, after traversing some slightly "bumpy" highway near that metropolis in a light touring car found that his wife had disappeared from the rear seat.

Moral: Always carry a spare.

AUTO CLUB PUTS NUMEROUS SIGNS

Many Roads Are Now Being Chartered; Route From East in Good Repair

A sign-a-mile—on the transcontinental routes leading into Southern California is the slogan adopted and put into effect by the Automobile club of Southern California for the marking of the roads leading from the east to this part of the country.

According to a report issued yesterday by Automobile club officials, all road signs on transcontinental routes are now in perfect repair, following a season of sign posting work just completed by club crews. This will be good news for motorists traveling either east from California or west to California from the east.

All signposting work on the inland route to San Francisco has been completed from Los Angeles to the Fresno county line. New signs have also just been erected on the connecting road between the coast and inland roads from Famosa to Paso Robles.

Roads Being Charted

According to officials of the club signposting department, chart notes and new signs are now being made for marking the coast route from Southern California to the Monterey county line. Starting Monday all roads in San Bernardino and Riverside counties are to be charted for renovation work on the signing system in these counties. Following completion of the work in San Bernardino and Riverside will come repair activity in Orange, San Diego and Imperial counties.

French Succeed In Crossing Sahara In Automobiles

Autos to Cross Sahara

This is the first photograph to reach America of the actual start of the French expedition which successfully crossed the "blazing" Sahara in automobiles, equipped as semi-tractors. The picture was taken at the first stop, Touggurt. The cars have had to fight sandstorms, inaccessible dunes and the thousand and one perils met in the desert.

Advice If Carburetor Should Develop Leak

In case your carburetor leaks from the spray nozzle, go to work as follows: Flood the carburetor by means of the priming pin and wait for the drip to stop. If it stops, there was a piece of dirt in the valve which has been washed out by priming. If the drip does not stop, the piece of dirt may be too large, or the float may be heavy. The carburetor must come apart to remedy these troubles.

Machine Is Invented To Brand Automobiles

A machine has been invented for marking automobiles, motors, chassis, bodies and parts, something after the manner in which ranch animals are branded in the west. The device is a drilling machine, which automatically drills any given number, letter or symbol, or any manufacturer or license number into the motor, body, or any part of the car. The numbering machine is operated by electricity, and any number can be drilled in a few minutes.

Big Year Looms for 1923, Says Ford

DETROIT, Jan. 27.—Edsel Ford, president of Ford Motor company, believes automobile demand will be greater in 1923 than any previous year. His views follow:

"It is to be a case of the survival of the fittest and the manufacturer who rushes in with a desire to get out sales without consideration of what he gives in return is not likely to find the year a success. Demand is coming from a more concentrated sales effort on the part of manufacturers and dealers. There are hundreds and thousands of persons in all parts of the country who have yet to buy their first car."

"When I say demand for cars during the year will be greater than ever, I speak from facts compiled from an exhaustive study of car purchasing conditions throughout the country. The past two months have shown steadily increasing orders."

Mr. Ford stated that dealers were being urged to protect themselves against a real car shortage even in the face of 6000 daily production which his company hopes to reach about April 1.

LAW TO PENALIZE MOTOR ROAD HOGS

British to Impose Fitness Test on Applicants For Licenses

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Heaviest penalties for motor road hogs. Declaration of physical fitness to be made by every applicant for a driving license.

These are the main points of a bill for the better protection of all road users which is to be presented to Parliament by the Ministry of Transport.

At present any one can take out a driving license, whether he be blind, deaf, dumb, paralyzed or suffering from any other infirmity. No questions are asked. The danger and absurdity of the existing system of obtaining a license is illustrated by the granting of a license to a stone-blind ex-serviceman, who signed the usual application.

Heavy Penalties

The Ministry of Transport now proposes, on the recommendation of a departmental committee, that applicants for licenses shall have to declare that they are physically fit, and be liable to heavy penalties if they make a false declaration.

These proposed penalties are: Driving to the danger or injury of the public, or showing criminal intent—first offense, maximum fine of $250 and suspension of license; subsequent offenses, $500 fine and suspension of license for six months.

Year Behind Bars
Attempting to obtain a fresh license while existing license is suspended—twelve months' imprisonment, without the option of a fine, the court to have the power of ordering hard labor.

Other penalties for minor offenses are also suggested.

The Ministry of Transport reports that the number of motor licenses current in the United Kingdom on August 31 was 975,573, and the amount received in payment for licenses during the year was over $50,000,000. The number of cars in use was 314,769.

THIS IS BAD SIGN
Heavy sooting of plugs may be taken as a certain indication of faulty carburetion or a leakage past the piston rings. There should be no carbonization at all. Often the mixture is too rich.

Interest to Motorists

USE INSULATED WIRE

Care should be taken in connecting up any battery, wet or dry cells, with a good grade of insulated, rubber-covered wire, and see that the ends of the wire attached to the binding posts are scraped clean and bright.

TIRE HINTS GIVEN

Almost every motorist is impressed with the need of keeping his tires properly inflated. Tire manufacturers and automobile experts have for some time laid especial stress on the vital part played by correct air pressure in the life of a tire. The point cannot be too greatly emphasized. The wise car owner will also provide covers—or remember to use the ones he has—on his spare tires. Sunlight is a notorious enemy of rubber, as is unnecessary exposure to inclement weather.

PROTECTS COIL

An excellent method of protecting the coil and distributor from water is to cover this unit with a boot made from a short section of an inner tube. Close one end of the tube with tire cement and push the boot over the distributor. The wires leading from the electrical system can be inserted through holes in the top of the boot.

SAFETY FIRST

Because of the dangerous exhaust gas, which causes death due to suffocation, whenever any work is being done in the garage while the engine is running, the doors should be open to insure proper circulation of air, or a hose may be connected to the exhaust pipe to carry the gas to the outside of the garage.

SHIFTLESS HUBBY

Mrs. J. Walker—I see you are driving the new car yourself.
Mrs. K. Driver—Yes, my husband has been so busy he hasn't learned to change gears yet.
Mrs. J. Walker—He hasn't?
Mrs. K. Driver—No, he can't change the gears so I have to shift for myself.

PULLING IN MUD

To keep wheels from spinning when driving through mud, use added weight on the rear wheels. Load up the back of the car with rocks, and have the passengers sit tight. Do not attempt to lighten the car to get through a bad spot in the road.

MUCH ROAD MATERIAL

The volume of material used in the construction of durable highways by the State of Pennsylvania in 1919, 1920, 1921 and 1922 is 20 per cent greater than the total volume of the material in the largest of all the Egyptian pyramids, Cheops.

LEAD WORKERS' AUTOS

Baltimore, Md., and Detroit, Mich., lead all other cities in the United States in the number of motor vehicles used to carry workers to and from their work each day. The commuters number 25,000 in each of these cities.

GREAT ROAD PROGRESS

According to Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, greater progress was made on the Nation's highways during the last year than in any similar period in the history of the country.

NEW FUEL MIXTURE

A scientific committee of the Institute of France, which has been investigating fuels for combustion engines, reports that a mixture of alcohol and gasoline is the probable "national fuel" for motor engines. This mixture of alcohol and gasoline, ranging from 10 to 50 per cent of alcohol, is now being tested on a large scale by numerous industries.

GOOD INSULATION

Examine the electrical system at different intervals. Wires may "work" against some part of the chassis or engine, which chafes and wears away the insulation. Cover these with friction tape or secure them in such a way that they will not rub. When current commences to leak out, the battery may be ruined or the wires burned away.

SKIDDING RESISTANCE

When caught out on a wet highway without chains, it is advisable to let out a portion of the air in the tires. Release enough air to give the time more traction surface, and in this way the tendency to skid will be lessened, although it will not eliminate the danger of skidding.

FOR EASY STARTING

If the motor refuses to start easily with the throttle partly open, the trouble may be overcome by giving the crank a turn or two with the throttle wide open and the ignition switch off, and then cranking with the throttle partly closed and the ignition on.

BRAKES WEAR TIRES

Always apply the brakes gently. When brakes are jammed hard, it puts a severe strain on the tires and may cause one wheel to lock and slide, wearing the tread at that point. Carefully judge your distance and momentum and stop by using brakes as little as possible.

PASSING ON ROAD

When overtaking another automobile on the road, pass to the left and do not pull over to the right until entirely clear of the car. The purpose of this is to prevent this dangerous practice of "cutting in," which has been the cause of many accidents.

HOT BRONZE BEARINGS

Never use water to cool a bronze bearing that has been running hot. The best method is to wait for the bearing to cool in the ordinary course, but if this is impossible, use oil to cool the part.

DRIVING IN SAND

When it becomes necessary to drive through heavy sand, better progress will be made if the tires are deflated to about one-third of their rated capacity.

QUICK TIRE PUMP

A compound lever, quick acting tire pump has been invented with a folding handle that permits it to be carried in an automobile tool box.

MAXWELL'S MOTOR CUTS VIBRATION

Four Cylinder Power Plant In New Model Reduces Destructive Wear

"A great power plant is under the hood of the Good Maxwell—the result of long engineering development, precision manufacture, and rigid inspection. A motor of exceptional power and flexibility, and notably quiet smoothness, it is particularly free from wear where wear is ordinarily the most severe," says Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car company, No. 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell dealers.

The real reason for the building of six, eight and twelve cylinder motors was to eliminate vibration. Engineers have now learned that vibration can be entirely eliminated in the four cylinder motor and it is evidenced by what has been accomplished in the new Maxwell motor, which is so perfectly balanced that the power is applied evenly to the rear wheels, where it belongs.

"Few people have any idea of the amount of power that is required and consequently wasted in rattling and vibration of the hood, fenders, lamps and the entire car itself. When this vibration is eliminated, the power is properly applied to the rear wheels," said Mr. Clark.

TAKES USED CARS ON BUICK SALES

Local Agency Offers Bargains in Overhauled Autos Of Real Merit

With the delivery to Tanner & Hall, Ltd., local agents, of the new Buick models from the factory, and the consequent sales to Glendale customers, the firm has taken over a number of used cars that have been placed in perfect running order, according to Ray L. Galvin, manager of the agency on South Brand, and these cars are now being offered to purchasers at prices that are proving attractive. Every car in the lot has been thoroughly overhauled.

"Each of these cars still has many thousands of miles of actual running value in it," said Mr. Galvin. "A great many people fail to take into consideration the fact that a car that has been run, with proper care, for 10,000 or 15,000 miles, still has many times that number of miles to run before it can be considered obsolete or exhausted, and for a trifling sum, in many cases, a buyer can secure an automobile capable of giving years of service before it has to be relegated to the scrap heap. When a car is overhauled by expert mechanics, as is done in this establishment, and when it is backed by the reputation of a firm like Tanner & Hall, Ltd., the buyer can rest assured that he is getting a car that will meet every reasonable demand and that will live up to the guarantee given at the time of its purchase."

STOCKS OF FORDS NEAR EXHAUSTION

Buyers Can Secure Delivery By Ordering Cars Now, Smith Declares

The imminent shortage of Ford cars of all models is still being stressed by Jesse E. Smith, Glendale Ford dealer, who has had additional information from the factory this week that urges the placing of orders at once. For the present, declares Mr. Smith, orders can be filled promptly, but within the next thirty days the demand will have reached such a point that immediate deliveries will be out of the question.

For this reason he advises those who contemplate purchasing Ford cars to place their orders now, so that they may be assured of delivery with the least possible delay. In another column of The News the firm's advertisement shows the actual conditions confronting prospective Ford purchasers.

The local agency this week delivered to Mrs. Leonard Rosserman, 614 South Central avenue, the first of the new type 4 door model Ford Sedans to be seen in Glendale, and another Ford coupe was delivered to Mrs. Margaret Landis Bracken of the Universal, who is better known in the moving picture industry as Margaret Landis.

COURT MOTOR CO. EXTENDS SERVICE

Enlarged Facilities to Allow Handling of Every Make Of Automobile

The establishment of a service department that will handle all makes of cars is the latest departure inaugurated by the Court Motor company, on South Brand, distributors of the Cadillac cars. In the past the firm has concerned itself almost exclusively with Cadillac service, but with the installation of much new machinery and the employment of an extra force of expert mechanics, the company is now prepared to handle all kinds of service work.

It is stated by officials of the company that special attention will be paid to the needs of women drivers, and every effort will be made to extend assistance to them when they bring their cars to the Court Motor company's shop.

An extensive stock of parts and accessories has been added to the rest of the supplies carried by the company, and the needs of the local motoring public will be supplied in the most prompt and particular with the most modern automobile equipment on the market.

'DON'TS' FOR AUTOISTS

Never have a person or bundle in your lap when motoring.

A motorist who drives without lights, or with only one light, is dangerous on the highway.

Any driver, while teaching another person to operate a car, should keep off busy thoroughfares.

It is better to lose a few minutes than your life. Slow down if you can not see where you are going.

The man who permits a car to be used on the highways with defective brakes has no regard for human life.

SURE SIGN

"He's a new driver."
"What makes you think so?"
"He hasn't got over arguing with the traffic cop yet."

STUDEBAKER HAS RECORD N. Y. YEAR

Ahead of All Competitors in Number of Sales Made In Gotham Market

Figures compiled by the Studebaker corporation for 1922 show that in New York, the most discriminating and competitive market in the world, more Studebakers were sold last year than by any other manufacturer, with the exception of the Ford factories. Studebaker agents in Greater New York reported sales of 2411 more cars in 1922 than were sold in 1921, with an increase in value of $3,060,000, and indications are that the present year will show an even larger increase in the sales of Studebaker cars in this area.

This growth, however, is not confined to New York, according to Steve Packer, manager of the Packer Auto company, South Brand, local agents for the Studebaker cars. California, and especially Southern California, is absorbing cars at an unprecedented rate, and it is not improbable that this section of the country will run the eastern market a close race in 1923.

Shipments of Studebaker 1923 models that were received a few days ago are practically exhausted now, says Mr. Packer, and rush orders have been wired to the factory to expedite the orders for the local agency as much as possible, to meet the demand for these popular models here in the Glendale territory.

MARKET ABSORBS MANY MOON CARS

Trainload Shipments Leaving Factories for Eastern Cities, Is Report

Advices received from the western sales manager of the Moon Motor Co., by W. R. Naylor Motor Co., 126 S. Maryland avenue, Glendale agents for the Moon car state that the big eastern cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, are ordering Moon cars by the trainloads and that the factory and equipment had to be enlarged to keep pace with the demand that has arisen for this make.

This increased demand is attributed to the showing made at the recent motor shows in Los Angeles and New York of the late models, and the realization by the motoring public of the intrinsic worth of the Moon, according to Mr. Naylor.

Another interesting item received from headquarters is that the Moon is now counted as the sixteenth among the large manufacturers of automobiles in the country, having passed a number of its competitors during the past year. This statement is based on figures compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce after comparison of the reports submitted by every automobile manufacturer in the country.

SERVICE STATION DIGS GREASE PIT

Improvement to Be Finished By Beginning of Week Aid to Motorists

Work is in progress on the construction of an oiling and greasing pit at the C. & B. service station at the corner of Colorado and Brand, and the new addition will be completed by the first of the week. This will permit the rendering of a greater degree of service to the patrons of the station, whose number is steadily growing.

A fortunate purchase of a large stock of Oldfield tires, before the recent price advances went into effect, has placed the C. & B. service station in a position to quote exceptionally advantageous prices on all sizes of tires, and the figures at which these tires are being sold, it is claimed, average about twenty per cent below the regular market prices today.

The service rendered by these tires, it is claimed, renders them an exceptionally attractive purchase at the prices at which they are being sold, and the amount of business that has been done by the C. & B. service station since the purchase of this lot of tires is a abundant proof of the favor that they have found with the motoring public.

USE FOR JACK

Even the most skillful and prudent of motorists will occasionally drive too near the curb, it is said, and find that he cannot turn his wheels without scraping them against the curb and seriously injuring them. The injury entailed to the tires by this condition is considerable. When the motorist has driven too close to the curb it is a good idea to put the jack under the front axle and to lift the front wheels a few inches from the ground. Then if he will give his car a substantial push sideways off the jack away from the curb he will find that he has enough space to turn his wheels without scraping his tires against the curb.

Kerosene, naphtha, vasoline, butter or even margarine will remove tar spots from the body of the car.

Built for Those Who Know Motor Cars

The rigid inspection which every Reo must pass pre-supposes and insists upon closer attention to details: fine degree of workmanship and better quality of materials than would be possible if a vast volume were the only consideration.

This seven passenger touring car is an excellent example of a strict observance of the code—"QUALITY FIRST."

Compare the best known motor cars with the fineness of REO design, construction and efficiency. Truly the REO seven passenger Touring Car is a conspicuous member of the quality group.

STAR OWNERS IN 3-MILE CARAVAN

Gasoline Economy Test Is Won by Car With Average of 35.3 Miles

The All Star owners' caravan from Los Angeles to Brent's mountain crags that was held last Sunday, set a new record for motor trips of this kind, according to Dilley & Armstrong, Glendale agents for the Star car, when 216 cars and a total of 1,084 people lined up for the start.

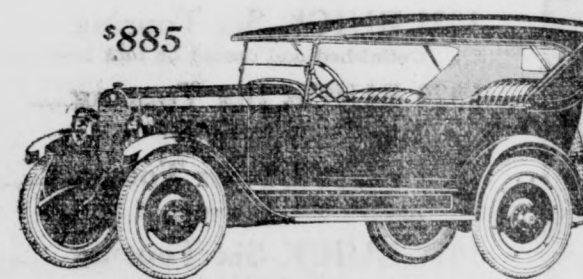

Gasoline tests were taken of the cars that made the 58-mile trip to Brent's Crags, and the high man won first prize with an average of 35.3 miles to the gallon, with eleven members of the motored showing an average of 25.45 miles, and a grand average for all cars entered in the test of 21.98 miles per gallon.

Guests at the trip were entertained at a barbecue at Brent's Crags, motion pictures being taken showing the cavalcade and other interesting features of the journey, and these pictures will be shown to the Star-owners as soon as they have been completed by the photographers.

The Star caravan is said to have been the largest affair of its kind ever held in the country, covering three miles, and the entire day passed without any mishaps to any of the cars or to their human freight, each car maintaining its place in line from start to finish.

SPORTS

SPORTS CHATTER By BILL UNMACK PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Tennis in California as usual will get under way this year earlier than other sections of the country. The climatic conditions of the state allow an early start of the game. A number of tournaments have already been scheduled and dates tentatively set for the most important events which latter will be definitely accepted when the California Lawn Tennis Association holds its annual meeting at San Francisco on February 23rd.

The outdoor season will officially open on February 10 with a three day tournament at the Burlingame Country Club. This is a new tournament and will be closely followed February 22 to 25 with the annual tournament at San Rafael. In the old days of California tennis San Rafael was the historic court battle ground of all the important state and coast championships. Last year the court game was revived there and is now an annual fixture.

For several years a tournament known as the Inter-Club series has been most successfully handled and this event will start March 4 and run for approximately six weeks, play being every Saturday and Sunday. The tournament is divided into two classes, with the stronger club teams in Class A and the smaller ones in Class B. All the stars of the California courts participate in these series with their respective clubs. Such teams as the Stanford University, California University, California Lawn Tennis Club, Berkeley club Olympic club and others participate in these tournaments and the second string teams of the same organizations are in Class B together with teams from the towns of Modesto, Stockton,

San Jose, Sacramento, Santa Rosa and other cities.

The two big events of the courts are the Pacific Coast singles and the doubles. To date no definite date has been set for the former, the officials of the Tennis Association desiring to wait until Bill Tilden makes his plans. It is thought Tilden will be on the coast some time in June in which case the date for the singles will be set so that he will be able to participate. It was in this tournament last year that Bill Johnston beat Tilden for the coast title. The coast doubles for years past have been played in Los Angeles and this arrangement will hold again this year the series to be played July 1 to 4.

Another important tournament is the Griffin annual California tournament. In other years past this tournament has always been played to include Decoration Day, but owing to this holiday coming in the middle of the week this year it is possible that the date will be set for the Saturday and Sunday immediately prior to Decoration Day or the week end following the holiday. This event as usual will attract all the tennis notables of the California courts including Bill Johnston, the Griffin brothers, the Kinsey brothers, Irving Weinstein, Bill Parker, Willis Davis, Helen Willis, Helen Baker, the McCune sisters, Carolyn Swartz and many others.

Prospects for the coast tennis this year were never better. A number of new juveniles are appearing on the horizon as well as a number of high class juniors. Tennis among the girls of the state was never more prosperous looking than at present and the chances for development of new girl players is particularly bright.

RICKARD, KEARNS AT OUTS, REPORT

Manager of Dempsey Is Rather Peeved at That Million Dollar Deal

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service
NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—For the first time since the Toledo affair of happy memory, the "business understanding" between Jack Kearns and Tex Rickard has become a trifle strained, it became known today. The rift in the lute was effected several days ago when, upon his arrival in the east, Kearns made it perfectly clear to Rickard that he will be just one of the bidders when it comes down to a question of signing Jack Dempsey for a heavyweight championship bout this summer.

Kearns has never quite recovered from the fact that Rickard, said to have been the arch-sap in the promotion of the Dempsey-Carpenter brouhaha, cleared over a million dollars on the deal while Kearns, who is declared to have really managed the affair, split $300,000 with Dempsey.

Whole Lot of Money
A million dollars is an interesting sum and that is why Harry Frazee, ostensibly representing a theatrical syndicate, Tom O'Rourke who claims he has the backing of Stoneham, McGraw and the New York Giant outfit and others are being considered serious competitors of Rickard for the first time. Financials of a speculative turn of mind are also rather inclined to furnish competition when such a profit is the stake. Kearns is playing all sides impartially.

Just now he is dallying with the Frazee proposition. He held a third conference with Frazee last night and it is understood that that gentleman not only furnished proof of his financial ability to conduct the enterprise but indicated his willingness to post a guarantee of $100,000 as evidence of good faith.

Frazee is interested only in a Dempsey-Willis bout. In this, he differs from Rickard, who is trying to eliminate Willis as an undesirable.

COMPUTING SPEED
To find the speed of any automobile, it is necessary to know three things, namely, the speed of the engine in revolutions per minute, the gear ratio or gear reduction and the size of the rear wheels.

The WORLD OVER By FRANKLIN B. MORSE PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

We understand a manufacturer has turned out an aromatic, but harmless cheese to be known as the Jess Willard brand.

Jack Dempsey will condescend to enter the ring for a half million dollars. Wonder what he'd be willing to do it for ten years from today?

Fred Fulton, champion heavyweight plasterer, is willing to take on Jess Willard. This reminds us of a match between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Corbett—it's so different.

One way to find out if the public wants a Willard-Dempsey battle is to have the tickets printed and start in trying to sell them.

How old is Willard? Is a new problem that is putting into the shade the famous query as to the number of years accumulated by the justly famous Ann.

While a lot of us are of the opinion that some humane organization ought to step in and take a hand in the matter of a return match between Dempsey and Willard, we are not prepared to put any money on the chances of a certain boxing critic, who says he could lick Jess with one hand if he laid off cigarettes for two weeks. He'd have to prove to us.

first that he could chuck up cigarettes for a week.

As a world's heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey is entitled to some consideration to the title from the point of view of traveling. We've lost count of the number of times he's been going back and forth between New York and the west. Jack is said to be considering writing a philosophical treatise on "Pullmans and Porters."

Small towns that have not been heard of for nearly a year again will break into the newspapers with the exodus of the baseball players to their preliminary training camps.

Frankie Murphy Meets
Paul Doyle Tuesday

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Frankie Murphy, the Denver welterweight, will meet Paul Doyle of New York in a twelve round bout at Madison Square garden on Tuesday night, it was announced today.

The bout will precede the match between Harry Greb and Tommy Longhran for the American light heavyweight title.

BIG FELLOWS TO WRESTLE FEB. 7

Hackenschmidt and Perman
Will Be Preceded by Two Boxing Bouts

Followers of the mat pastime are promised a treat on the evening of Wednesday, February 7, when John Hackenschmidt of Glendale will wrestle Wm. Perman of Fresno in the Odd Fellows' hall, the decision to go to the man winning two out of three falls. Hackenschmidt will enter the ring around 1:30, and Perman at 1:45, but the difference in weight is not expected to make much difference, according to Pete Nish, who is promoting the bout. Both are big fellows who know all the finer points of the grappling game, and a fast, exciting match is promised by the promoter.

Local Boys in Ring
In the first preliminary Joe Bauer of Glendale will swap punches for four rounds with Young George of Los Angeles, and experts favor the local boy to bring home the bacon before the end of the four spasms by the sleep route.

Another Glendale boy will be seen in action when Walt Dodge meets Paddy Duffy of Tujunga for four rounds. The outcome of this bout cannot be predicted, for Duffy comes down from the hills as more or less of an unknown, so that this bout will arouse lots of interest among Glendale fight fans.

Tickets for the show are on sale at Nish's place, 113 West Broadway.

BILL MEHLORN IN LEAD FOR PRIZE

Contest for $6000 Purse in Golf Tourney Now in Second Lap

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 27.—The battle for the $6,000 in purses offered in the Texas open golf championship tourney, went into the second lap today with Bill Mehlor of Shreveport leading the field. Mehlor turned in a card of 137 for the first thirty-six holes Friday.

The runner-up went into a triple tie between the Australian champion, Joe Kirkwood, Jack Burke of St. Paul and Joe Lally of San Antonio. Each turned in a 142.

Walter Hagen, British open champion, and Jim Barnes, former national champion, were tied for third place with scores of 143. It is conceded by the stars of golf in the tourney that if Mehlor plays the brand of golf today that he did yesterday nothing can stop him from taking first place.

If the brain leaves considerable parking space inside the skull, the germ of swiftness will find it sooner or later.

NEW FEATURES IN OVERLAND MODELS

Beauty and Riding Comfort
Are Manufacturers' Aim
In 1923 Lines

The new Overland line, that is only now being shown to the morning public, is known as Model 91, and the manufacturers have embodied a number of changes in construction that tend to add greater beauty to the appearance of the new cars and to add to the riding comfort. The same power plant has been used in the new models, but the radiator has been raised and this lends to the car a neat stream line body, according to H. C. Kennedy, sales manager of Geo. T. Smith, 228 South Brand, local distributors of Overland and Willys-Knight cars.

The beauty of these new models, says Mr. Anderson, is proving a strong argument with Glendale buyers, as the refinements that have been added to all the models in the new line, and especially in the closed cars, tend to place the new Overlands in a class by themselves. The larger bodies that have been incorporated in the closed cars, the changes in the color of the upholstery, and the additional argument of a reduction in price of the Overland sedan are being prospects eagerly inquiring about delivery of the new cars to the Smith salesrooms.

Everything Points to the Greatest Spring Demand for Ford Products in Company's History

1,202,517 Ford Cars and Trucks were delivered to retail purchasers in the United States alone during 1922—

Actual deliveries for last month greatly exceeded any previous December in the history of the Ford Motor Company—

It was the ninth consecutive month in which more than 100,000 Ford Cars and Trucks were retailed—keeping the Ford Plants working at capacity to meet dealers' requirements—

In many parts of the country dealers are already finding it necessary to specify later delivery dates on certain types because there are no reserve stocks to draw from—

Commercial users, business houses and farmers, anticipating their future requirements, are placing orders and taking delivery of Ford Cars, Trucks and Fordson Tractors to insure against delay—

Everything points to the biggest shortage of Ford Products this Spring that has ever existed—

The only way you can be sure of obtaining delivery of a Ford Car, Truck or Fordson Tractor is to list your order immediately—

We have given you these facts as they actually exist so that if you are planning to purchase a Ford Car, Truck or Tractor for use this Spring or Summer, you can list your order now and take advantage of our dealer's first opportunity to make delivery.

Miracle Well No. 2 drills at the corner of Burnett and Kenyon streets—in the high gravity, big well district, where new gushers are roaring in with clocklike regularity.

Foster Clients!

Here is my guarantee to you, a Foster client. It is absolute, embraces my word of honor and my firm's solemn pledge to you.

"You, a Foster client, can buy units at $100 each in the Miracle Oil Syndicate, and unless the four wells known as Miracle's Bonus Well No. 1, Miracle No. 2, Miracle No. 3 and Miracle No. 4 are completed producing a minimum of 2000 barrels of oil per day, you can call at any office of Fred B. Foster & Company and receive back dollar for dollar every dollar invested by you with Fred B. Foster & Company in Miracle units."

Fred B. Foster

Dated at Los Angeles, Thursday, January 25, 1923.

Our guarantee to you is that Miracle's wells will be completed with a combined production of 2000 barrels of oil per day, but we believe and every indication is—that they will be completed doing 10,000 barrels of oil per day.

It is made without a single selfish motive—with no thought or possible chance of profit to ourselves—in order that you may make as large an investment as your finances will permit in Miracle units, and at the same time know that, unless Miracle's wells are completed with a combined minimum production of 2000 barrels per day, every dollar you have invested will be refunded to you.

Orders for Miracle units at $100 each will be booked and filled as nearly as is humanly possible in the precise rotation received. The first orders that reach us from our clients will get them, but we want you all to realize that there can not be possibly enough to go around; that Miracle is going to be heavily over subscribed and that a number of checks will reach us too late to be accepted. But we will take care of every order that we possibly can—filling them until the last unit is sold.

Our best wishes for the New Year are with you, as is our hope that your order for Miracle units, under our guarantee of production or money back, will reach us in time for at least a portion of it to be accepted.

Fred B. Foster & Co.

Dated at Los Angeles, Thursday, January 25, 1923.

To the Public:

We open wide to you the same great opportunity that we open to those who are now numbered among our clients—but with this difference—you are given no money-back guarantee.

You can buy Miracle units identical with those that Foster clients are buying—sharing in the same great wells—at exactly the same price.

But you cannot buy them with the same guarantee that Foster clients buy them.

With Foster clients, it is different. They are a part of us—a great loyal crowd of supporters who have stood behind us like a stone wall—through thick and thin—black hours and happy ones.

To them is due and is extended—exactly as we would extend to you—the best that we have, if you had marched with us through dry holes—big wells—little wells—small dividends and large dividends.

The Miracle units that Foster clients purchase guarantee to them that Miracle's wells will be completed producing 2000 barrels of oil or their money refunded. That is a guarantee that we could ill afford to make if we did not believe—did not know—that 10,000 barrels of oil per day is a low estimate of what Miracle's wells will turn into the storage tanks each 24 hours.

This should be a sufficient guarantee to you. Only a few Miracle units are open for public subscription. The first orders that reach us by wire, phone, mail or office calls get them. Not more than 50 units to any one person. No terms, no discounts, orders filled in rotation received. Oversubscriptions will be returned.

FROM CZAR TO CONCERT QUEEN

BEAUTY CHATS

Galli-Curci, Intl.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mrs. J.—By a bland diet is meant a non-stimulating and non-irritating diet. This would eliminate excess meat and protein or excesses of any food, spices, tea, coffee, alcohol. It would include the foodstuffs that are smooth and not highly flavored. Cane sugar and acids would have to be eliminated.

Such a diet would be required only in such conditions as acute burns of the mouth or throat, or acute inflammation of the stomach. Sometimes feeble people who cannot chew and in certain surgical cases it is also necessary.

"Dear Doctor—I get up often at midnight to 3 a. m. and have a desire to eat something. Will you please tell me some kind of a ration I can snatch at night that would not have excess calories? I am 63 years old."—J. D.

Although you did not say you were overweight I gather you must be or you would not be interested in low calorie hay rations.

About the best thing for you at night would be a glass of hot skim milk. You can have ten ounces of that for 100 calories. If you want to put a couple of teaspoonful of cocoa in that would make it another 100 calories. Or you might have four ordinary crackers for 100 calories. A half slice of bread with a half level tablespoonful of butter would not be over 100 calories.

Send for our list of foods of 100 calorie portions if you haven't them. If you are on a reducing reform and you take this midnight banquet, you have to eat just so many calories less during the day to allow for them.

C. K.—You say you are 6 feet, 4 inches tall and weigh only 145 pounds. You should weigh around 175 pounds. Undoubtedly your excess smoking helps keep you thin and you should sleep and rest more than you say you do.

Have you our instructions on gaining? It is a safe wager, not to say a cinch, that if you have nothing organically wrong with you, you are not getting enough of the well known calories. We are getting results with our gaining instructions. Better send for them.

F. M.—It will be much easier for your friends to write individual requests for our little pamphlet on reducing than for you to type them from yours. I am sorry that we cannot comply with your request for a number of the pamphlets even though you sent the additional stamps, because it is the rule of the office that only one pamphlet is to be given for one letter. We have had to refuse other physical culture classes and high schools and other concerns because of this ruling.

Tell your friends to write to me in care of this paper, sending a self-addressed stamped envelope, and 4 cents in stamps, and we will be glad to send each of them the instructions.

Mrs. E.—No, bathing is not injurious to the expectant mother. Ocean bathing where you might be buffeted too vigorously by the waves, especially in the later months, might be inadvisable.

We have a list of books for the expectant mother which you can have if you would like them. (Copyright, 1923, George Matthew Adams)

THE WELL ROUNDED FORM
A few years ago, I was almost literally deluged by the number of requests for something to develop the bust. Then girls living in large cities lost interest in this—what shall I call it?—fad, for the styles were changing and the long, flat, boyish figure was coming in. Girls from the country, where fads and fashions catch on more slowly, continued to sigh for the perfect 36 figure. Now—well, no one wants to be round of form and well developed.

However, styles are changing again. Slowly, to be sure. This winter's dresses still hang loosely from broad, square shoulders over a bustless figure, to be held for an interval by flat half developed hips and to end in voluminously draped skirts. But one big fashion house is putting out a basque waist here and there (can you fancy anything more awful on a flat form?) and another is trying two graduated ruffles on the bottom of a full skirt, a third putting a circular flounce from the knees down, or plaits inserted to make the skirt flare.

out bell shape from below the hips. Sleeves have already been making themselves fancy—and there you have it, the fashions of the nineties back again after thirty years of ridicule.

Which means that the full bust figure will return. I'll give it two years to "catch on." So, if you are unfashionably full now, take heart for you'll be in style without trouble when your slim sister is taking olive oil and malted milk by the quart. And if you want, then or at any other time, a fattening tonic that will help develop the bust, send to me and I'll mail you the formula for one that has been much praised.

Tony C.—What you describe as the baggy condition around your eyes leads me to think that you have kidney trouble. You had better be examined by a good doctor who will prescribe a diet that will either cure or keep down this unpleasant condition. In any case you should eat very little meat and drink a great deal of water. Of course you can be pretty if you wear glasses.

Discouraged.—Do not wash your face three times a day, so much soap and water will only irritate the skin and aggravate its already dry condition. Rub the face with cleansing cream once a day, wash with hot water and soap, rinse with cold water. Take yeast for the pimples. These came from bad blood. Even if the tonic you are now taking is the proper sort you cannot expect results for a long time.

L. B. M.—Rub the fuzz of hair on the face with equal parts of peroxide of hydrogen and ammonia. This will bleach and discourage the growth.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Nut Cake

Strawberry Sauce: Beat 2 tablespoons of butter and two-thirds of a cup of sugar to a cream; add either 20 fresh strawberries mashed, or the same number of preserved and drained strawberries, and beat till light. If it curdles, add more sugar.

Hard Sauce: Stir together 1 cup of butter and 2 cups of powdered sugar. When light, beat in the juice of 1 lemon or 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla. Serve cold on a hot pudding.

Foaming Sauce: Beat together in the top of a double boiler the yolks of 2 eggs and two-thirds of a cup of granulated sugar; let cook over boiling water for 30 minutes. Then add the whites of 2 eggs beaten stiff, take from range, flavor with 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla (or 1/4 teaspoon of lemon extract) and serve at once.

Brown Sauce: Boil together for 10 minutes 1/2 pint of sweet milk, 1 tablespoon of butter, 2 tablespoons of granulated sugar and 2 tablespoons of molasses. Serve hot.

White Sauce: Scald 3/4 of a cup of sweet milk and add to it 1 tablespoon of flour mixed to a paste with 1/4 cup of cold milk; let this mixture cook a few minutes—until it begins to thicken—then place the saucepan on the back of the stove, to cool. When cool add vanilla and the whites of 2 eggs which have been beaten to a stiff froth with 1/2 cup of powdered sugar. Beat all well and serve.

Hot Pudding Sauce (for ice cream or pudding): Heat together 1 cup of sugar and 1/2 cup of water, and when boiling add 6 tablespoons of grated chocolate and 1/2 cup of sweet milk. Let all boil together for 3 minutes, then remove from fire and flavor with 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla. This will serve 6 people.

Sauce for a Steamed Pudding: Beat 2 egg-whites stiff, then add to them 1 cup of granulated sugar, the egg-yolks and 1 teaspoon of vanilla, beating as you add these ingredients.

Old-Time Sauce: Mix together 1 teaspoon of cornstarch and 1/2 cup of granulated sugar, then add a piece of butter size of an egg and 1 whole egg unbeaten. Stir well, then pour over this 1 cup of boiling water. Let thicken and serve at once.

LEG IRON FAILS TO FOIL ESCAPE

Alleged Holdup Severs Chain And Flees With Heavy Weight on Foot

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—William Hollingsworth, suspected of attempting to hold up a San Francisco detective sergeant in the bay city a week ago and a patient at the county hospital, where he was being treated for a serious wound in the head, made good his escape early today from the hospital with a leg iron fast to his person.

Hollingsworth appeared at the local county hospital several days ago and sought treatment for his wounds, which he said he received when two men held him up. Officers disbelieved his story and started an investigation, which led to his arrest last night in connection with the attempted San Francisco holdup.

Some time during the night Hollingsworth severed the iron chain from the leg iron to his bed and fled.

Perhaps you have observed that the nearer wrong a man is, the more impatient he is of criticism.

time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

JAP ENVOY WILL PROTEST RULING

Decision Barring Orientals From U. S. to Be Subject of Conference

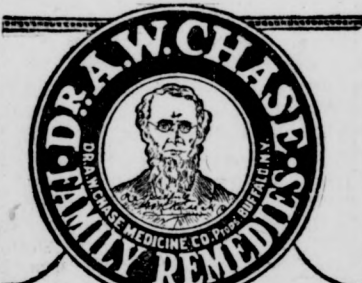

TOKIO, Jan. 27.—Masano Hanahara, new Japanese ambassador to the United States, upon his arrival at Washington will protest the Ozawa ruling of the United States supreme court, which declared Japanese ineligible to enter the United States.

This announcement was made by Foreign Minister Uchida when questioned by representatives of the budget committee of the diet. He said no action so far had been undertaken, but that Hanahara would immediately attempt to secure an agreement with the United States because of the important bearing the ruling on the immigration question.

Would Cut Maximum Postal Savings $2000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Reduction of the maximum of postal savings deposits from $5,000 to $3,000 is provided in a bill ordered favorably reported from the house postoffice committee. The change in law was recommended by Secretary Mellon to discourage heavy investments in postal savings funds and encourage use of the money in business.

K-L Pills
For Kidney and Liver Troubles, Constipation, Indigestion, Headache and Kindred Ailments
Liver trouble leads to serious illness. And a sign of liver trouble is biliousness. If you have attacks of headache, if you have a coated tongue, if you have a sickle appetite, you probably are bilious—which may lead to derangement of the liver and to serious and quite often fatal results. Read the strong endorsement of Dr. A. W. Chase's K-L Pills. Mrs. J. H. Stone, Route No. 3, Baxley, Ga., writes:

"For a number of years I have been troubled with my kidneys, liver and also my heart. I find Dr. A. W. Chase's K-L Pills a wonderful remedy. They certainly are the finest I ever used. I would not be without them in my home and take great pleasure in recommending them to my friends."

A Building Is as Strong as Its Weakest Board

Wise men, as a rule, do not build for today; they build for the future. This is particularly true of the home-builder, who visualizes for himself and his family long years of happiness in their own cozy "place." Is it not worth while, then, to make certain that perfectly seasoned QUALITY materials are used?

You will require sound lumber for the construction of your building. The sills, beams, joists, walls must be strong if the structure is to successfully withstand the wear and tear of time. It behooves you to select your materials with the utmost care that no disappointment will be yours when the "new" shall have worn off your home. We offer full stocks of the best grades of lumber for your selection, at prices you will find astonishingly reasonable; as well as all other necessary building materials.

We respectfully request the opportunity to figure with you on high grade materials for the building of your home or any other structure.

Invalid Claims Jury Duty Cures Sickness

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 27.—Jury duty may have its drawbacks, but, according to an invalid who has just completed two weeks of duty under Judge Webster Thayer, it is one of the best remedies for illness that can be prescribed.

The invalid first asked to be excused on the ground that he was ill. Judge Thayer asked him to give the "jury treatment" a trial. The man did as requested. Following the dismissal of the jury Judge Thayer received the following letter from the invalid:

"Dear Judge—I can cheerfully recommend your famous jury duty cure to all persons suffering from nervous prostration. After taking two weeks of it I have gained eight pounds and feel like a new man."

Sumitomo, one of the wealthiest men in Japan and head of the Sumitomo Bank of Hawaii.

In this house, and on the same place, were born Baker, his mother, his grandfather, his great-grandfather, and, recently, his son, Wesley, Jr.

PUPILS ENTER HIGH SCHOOL COURSE IN COMMERCIAL WORK

Study of Business Routine Trains Student In Knowledge of Trade Methods

MANY boys and girls are registering this week in the commercial department at Glendale Union high school. "We are endeavoring to combine theory and practice, with emphasis upon practice," remarked J. Rhea Baker, head of the commercial department. "We are trying to fit young people for life even if they do not intend to take a position in the business world."

Freshmen arithmetic bases its work upon a thorough drill in the four fundamental bases of arithmetic: addition, multiplication, subtraction and division. Accuracy and speed are both emphasized. Then come practical problems, such as figuring the cost of lumber, the cost of plastering a wall, the number of square feet of carpet necessary to cover a floor and the number of linear feet of wall paper necessary to brighten a home.

Percentage in all of its applications is the subject of the 19th class in business arithmetic. Students learn to calculate interest, term and trade discount and how to "figure" other transactions in which percentage plays a part.

Bookkeeping Course
The elementary bookkeeping course provides each pupil with a job in the bookkeeping department of the imaginary firm of W. H. Goodwin, who is in the retail grocery business. Each pupil is given $2000 worth of school currency, $1500 of which is deposited in the commercial department's bank. Each student makes the necessary entries in cash books, sales books, purchase books, and daily ledgers and at the end of each month gets a trial balance and makes a profit and loss statement.

The second semester's work in bookkeeping deals with a co-partnership. Each student helps in preparing the articles of co-partnership for the imaginary firm of C. W. Keeland & company, which is in the retail hay, grain and feed business. In order to prevent the young bookkeeper from getting into a rut at the end of the second month, Mr. Keeland up and takes in another partner. This involves an immediate profit and loss statement, inventory and a lot of extra work which provides the students with many problems of a practical nature.

Higher Accounting
The advanced class in bookkeeping takes up a set of books for J. A. Whitney & company, which is in the wholesale grocery business. Pupils help prepare the articles of incorporation and see that the company is properly incorporated for $50,000.

Cost accounting is the subject of the second semester's work of this class. Each student becomes a member of the bookkeeping department of the Ben Franklin Printing company.

An adding machine permits pupils in this department to learn its operation. They are taught also the function of many forms of commercial paper such as checks, drafts, bills, clearing slips, statements.

Pennmanship and spelling are combined. Twenty-five new words are taken up each day with a general review every two weeks. At the end of the school term, pupils are expected to have a vocabulary of over 5000 words.

Use Common Words
"We don't take up a whole lot of catch words," remarked Mr. Baker, "but the common words in the business world. We also emphasize their pronunciation and definition."

Typewriting students have access to Underwood, Royal or Remington typewriters, all of which have standard keyboards, and are expected to develop a speed by the touch system of at least forty words the first year and over sixty words the second term. This speed qualifies the students to take positions as typists.

Two courses are offered in Gregg shorthand. One requires two years and the other only one year. Both cover the same field. The one-year class is open only to seniors and post-graduates. Upon passing either of these courses with satisfactory grades pupils are qualified to take stenographic positions.

Letter writing, correspondence and grammar are the bases of the course in Business English. Filing systems and office routine are the fundamentals of a class in office practice. "All students who expect to become stenographers, should take this course," remarked Mr. Baker. "It is very practical."

Trade Problems
Commercial geography takes up commercial and industrial problems with especial emphasis upon the United States. Pupils learn where raw materials come from, what happens to them and some of the problems of foreign trade.

Commercial law, which is open to seniors only, takes up the study of various forms of contracts and negotiable instruments.

Classes to the following numbers will be taught next semester in the following subjects of the Commercial Department: B9 arithmetic, 2; A9 arithmetic, 5; B10 bookkeeping, 1; A10 bookkeeping, 3; B11 bookkeeping, 1; B9 penmanship and spelling, 1; A11 shorthand, 2; A12 shorthand, 1; Business English, 1; commercial geography, 1; commercial law, 1, and office practice, 1.

FIRM BELIEF IN FAIRIES REMAINS

Conan Doyle Finds More Evidence, He Says, of Mysterious People

By CHARLES A. SMITH
For International News Service
LONDON, Jan. 26.—"I am more than ever convinced that fairies really exist. Furthermore, I have in my possession corroborative evidence placing the matter beyond all doubt."

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous novelist and creator of Sherlock Holmes, thus adds another argument to the remarkable controversy that has raged since he first raised the question about two years ago.

In a London magazine at that time he not only asserted that fairies had been seen in a small village in Yorkshire, but had been photographed by two young girls, aged 10 and 16 respectively.

Shown in Pictures
The photographs were reproduced. One shows Alice, the younger girl, behind a bank, while behind her were four fairies dancing in traditional fairy costume, with gauzy wings, one of them playing a small red instrument seated on a stool. The other photograph was of a prancing gnome seated on the knee of the elder girl.

The point of what Sir Arthur claims to be the fresh evidence is that a South African newspaper has discovered a girl in South Africa to whom the "younger of the two" wrote letters at the time telling of the incident.

STOCKS, MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The stock market closed irregular to day. Dealings continued on a small scale. Some of the railroad stocks became active and strong. Baltimore & Ohio advanced over 1 point to a new high for the year at 46 3/4, while St. Paul preferred rose 2 points on large transactions. Another strong feature was U. S. Hoffman Machinery, which rose over 5 points to 25. United Steel held around 106 and Studebaker around 115.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds were irregular.

Stock sales today totalled 349,700 shares; bonds, $3,182,000. Stock sales for the week 3,763,800 shares; bonds, $56,410,000.

Grain Market Easier
CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—An easier tendency prevailed in the grain markets today. Sentiment was bearish, due mainly to belief of traders that the French invasion of the Ruhr would have a destructive economic effect. Grains started slightly lower, slipped off some more, then turned dull and closed irregularly weak.

Wheat closed 3/4 @ 3/8c lower than the finish yesterday; corn, 1/4 @ 1/2c off and oats 1/4 @ 1/2c down.

Provisions eased off at the finish. Lard closed 5 @ 7 1/2c lower; short ribs, 2 1/2 @ 10c lower.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Fight Against Economy 'Something' In Return Need of Civic Center May Dream Come True

By Gil A. Cowan

It is a sad tale, mates, to be sitting on the sidelines at this session of the California legislature, seeing the interests using every effort, every subterfuge, every minute of the day and hours of the night in their endeavors to defeat the program of economy with efficiency outlined by Governor Friend Richardson.

Certain buccolic members of the "third" house, as the lobbyists are known, and representatives of the "Fourth Estate," say and write and think day by day in every way "there shall be no economy."

But the budget bill, one of the few initiative measures to pass last election, gives the governor all the power he needs and here's hoping he exercises just as much as is necessary to keep faith with the people.

People do want humanitarian laws and institutions. They do want the government to maintain its control. But they do not want the hidden hand to further direct the policy of this state.

And, by golly, it will not as long as there is a drop of fighting blood left in those who seek fewer and better laws, fewer and more earnest officials, salaries commensurate to the work done, and a spirit of service on the part of appointees.

All this noise about corporation control of state affairs, reactionary government and the like is mere propaganda to beg the real issues of economy, reapportionment and the rule of the people.

Every time Governor Richardson tells one of the bosses he don't give a whoop about the future and consigns two or three sarcastic newswriters to Hades, he is performing a real service for Americans.

While the writer does not idolize Governor Richardson, for he is not a Doug Fairbanks in personality, he does merit admiration for having a mind of his own—and expressing his thoughts.

Bob Martin, secretary and manager of the California Auto Trades association, told a good yarn at a luncheon club the other day that is worthy of repetition.

When American interests were building the Mexican Central railway they hired peons for 50 cents a day, payable monthly. Of course, those workers were considered cheap and were cheap.

By 11 o'clock every morning they would leave the right-of-way and take a siesta under a mesquite bush. That was maddening to the ambitious American.

One young timekeeper hit upon an idea. He went to Mexico City got a few barrels full of pennies, bright and new. Then he offered the laborers a shiny coin for every wheelbarrow load of dirt they moved.

Soon they were working all day long for 35 to 40 cents a day. It was simply a matter of getting paid as they went. They saw something in return for their efforts.

That was Martin's story, and how much Americans are like those peons. Offer a man a commission and he will produce hundreds of dollars' worth of work, but him on a straight salary by the month and see the results slump.

Yet, it is the fellow who does as much on salary as he does on commission that finally gets to lead the pack.

For the boys working commission follow the lure of the golden rainbow in their quick harvest and they are away to new fields.

Think it over, folks.

Every city should have a civic center. Glendale is no exception. The writer has dreamed civic center for years. May that dream now come true, even if the location is not all to be desired.

There must be a place to play, nowadays. Give it to yourselves, folks. That's all.

British Will Launch Plane Carriers Soon

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Two new English naval aircraft carriers of a completely novel design shortly are to be placed in commission with the British fleet. One of these ships was specially designed by the British Admiralty and is claimed to be the biggest ship of its kind in the world, embodying all the latest landing and launching improvements.

The unusual feature of these two vessels, hitherto not employed in British aircraft carriers, is that the funnels, mast and superstructure are not in the centre, but on the starboard side, amidships, thus leaving ample flying-off and alighting space.

The largest of the two, the Eagle, is of 26,200 tons displacement and is fitted with two hangars, which will accommodate more than twenty aeroplanes, which will be raised to the flying-off deck by electric elevators.

Although at the time she was laid down the demand was all for size in this type of ship experts now say that the extreme vulnerability of the flying decks makes it very questionable whether the gigantic carriers are not a mistake, and it is expected that any further new ships of this type will be on a smaller scale.

NINETY MILE SPEED

England's first electric locomotive designed for long distance service has a maximum speed of ninety miles an hour.
